Frakt and Tuck Capture Close Race In Township; Borough Democrats Trotman, Goldfarb Win Easily

Goldfarb, Trotman Continue Democratic Mastery in Borough

Mildred Trotman and David Goldfarb won a resounding victory in their race for Borough Council, defeating their Republican opponents, Yolanda Arlett and Arnold Smolens, by a wide margin.

The two Democratic incumbents were easy winners, and their success was clear shortly after the polls closed Tuesday at 8 p.m. They gained substantial support in every Borough election district except District 8, the western section.

The biggest vote getter was Mr. Goldfarb, who was seeking his second full term on Borough Council. He received 1,606 votes. Ms. Trotman came in second. She was elected to her fourth term by 1,573 votes.

In her third try for a seat on Borough Council, Ms. Arlett received 976 votes. Her running mate, Arnold Smolens, gained 954 votes in his first attempt to win public office.

Larry Glasberg Will Be Lone Republican On Township Committee after January 1

Democrats Stephen Frakt and Michelle Tuck scored upset victories over Republican incumbents Ellen Souter and Fred Porter in the race for Township Committee.

Mr. Frakt and Ms. Tuck, newcomers to Township politics who campaigned on the strength of their professional experience in state and federal government agencies, won eight of the Township's 14 election districts by wide margins and one district, District 14, by a mere 10 votes. Including the absentee votes, Mr. Frakt was the top vote getter with 2833 votes to Ms. Tuck's 2803. His margin of victory over Ms. Souter, who received 2628 votes, was 205. Mr. Porter trailed with 2501 votes total.

The Republicans scored well in District 8, encompassing Brooks Bend and the western Township, and District 11, the Edgerstone/Constitution Hill area. Mr. Frakt won by wide margins in the traditionally Democratic districts encompassing Princeton University and the Institute for Advanced Study.

Fifty-four percent of the registered Township voters went to the polls. They voted the Democratic ticket, giving Gov. Jim Florio 3267 votes to 2082 for Christine Whitman, his Republican challenger, and endorsing Democrats Gerald Stockman for State Senate and Shirley Turner for General Assembly. Carl Mayer, a Battle Road resident running as an Independent for General Assembly, received 1328 votes from his fellow Township voters.

Springboard Homework Program Offers Hope & Helping Hands

Reading and signing out books are not the only activities in the Children's Room in the Princeton Public Library these days. Every weekday afternoon from 3 to 6, the atmosphere is energized, as students in the Springboard Homework Program hustle into the library to share school assignments with a waiting group of tutors.

Springboard is the outgrowth of Laura Spear's effort to help one young boy who was having trouble with his grades. A soccer buddy of her son, he was from Latin America, and spoke little English.

When Mrs. Spear went to the Princeton Public Library to find materials to help him, she quickly saw the additional advantage of working with him there.

"What better place!" she explains. "All the research facilities and reference materials are right there at our fingertips."

The library agreed to allow them to work together in the Children's Room, and very soon what was a twosome became a foursome, and then an octet, as new students joined the project. Mrs. Spear, a graduate of the University of Washington with a B.A. in English literature, had taught adult literacy at a library in Trenton, but now she needed some assistance.

She recruited a friend who spoke Spanish to help with translating when necessary, and she called upon other friends and also Princeton University students, as the need for tutors grew.

"I started looking for volunteers," she recalls. "I got friends, and went to the Student Volunteer Council at Princeton University, which is very active. They got a University student to organize volunteers for us, and many were bi-lingual, which was great."

Among the community volunteers was Betsy Bennett, who happened to be in the library one afternoon, looked around and said, "What's going on here? This looks interesting." She was quickly introduced to Mrs.

ONE YEAR AGO: In its election issue last year, TOWN TOPICS ran the story of the closing of Princeton's last downtown theatre, the Garden. But this year's election issue brings better news: The Garden, under new operation, will be refurbished and will reopen later this month. Thalia, Texas, in Peter Bogdanovich's film, may have seen its last picture show. But Princeton hasn't

Garden Theatre to Reopen Soon; Renovations Will Begin This Week

If all goes according to plan, the darkened Garden Theatre will reopen on Wednesday, November 24, after being closed for a year.

Princeton University, owner of the theatre, announced Monday that it has signed a 15-year lease with Princeton Garden Theatre Inc. The University will make a cash contribution of an undisclosed amount toward the building's renovation, and will allow the first year of the lease to be rent-free.

About $180,000 worth of renovations are scheduled to begin this week. They include a complete refurbishing of seats; improved heating, ventilation, and air conditioning; an upgraded projection system; and a new concession stand, lights, doors, carpeting, and paint. "Eric" will be removed from the marquee, restoring the theatre to its original name.

Louise Stephens, one of the three Garden Theatre partners, said the two-screen movie house will show first-run films. If she can work it out, she said, she would like to open with Remains of the Day, with Princeton's Christopher Reeve, and Robin Williams' new film, Mrs. Doubtfire.

Ms. Stephens also has her eye on The War Room, a semi-documentary film she saw at the recent New York City Film Festival. The movie follows key strategist James Carville through the final weeks of the Clinton campaign. She added that a film such as Demolition Man, with Sylvester Stallone, might also be shown, because "everybody likes that type of movie."

The Garden

Borough Mayor Marvin Reed has taken an active role in bringing a movie theater back into Princeton ever since United Artists closed the Garden a year ago. Calling himself "the matchmaker who found a wonderful date for Princeton University and made the introduction," Mayor Reed recalled that he had met Larry Haber (one of the three partners in the Garden) at a Downtown New Jersey conference.

"I wasted no time at the end of the meeting," said the Mayor, "I walked over to him and said, 'Have I got a theatre for you.'"

The company plans to turn the Garden into a first-class theatre, said Ms. Stephens, with future plans that include redone bathrooms and a general sprucing-up. But the end result "will not be like a big theater in the mall with neon lights."

She said the Garden might someday be increased to four screens if customer support warrants it, but that the company was "perfectly happy with two screens."

Not a Money Loser

The new theater operator differs in this approach from United Artists, which acknowledged that it was not losing money on the Garden, but that the small movie house eluded with its corporate philosophy of operating multiplex theatres.

Reflecting on the potential success of the theatre given the large number of screens within the general area, Ms. Stephens said, "This is not an overscreened area. It's a place where an opportunity still exists."

She also suggested that the Garden might be an appropriate place for a small film festival, and mentioned the possibility of offering midnight shows.

"A movie theater is a sign you're in a real downtown," said Mayor Reed, adding that the presence of a theatre will enhance the rest of the business district.

Robert Durkee, Princeton University vice president for public affairs, said that students, faculty, and staff had come forward to express their desire to have a movie theatre in the downtown.

The Garden's new operators are affiliated with R & H Financial Services in New York City, a financial consulting firm specializing in middle market companies, including several entertainment companies and motion picture properties. These include Jim Henson Associates and Island Pictures/Island Records.

Within the past two years, the firm has acquired and revitalized New Park Cinema in Roselle Park and MetroVision theatres in the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Manhattan. It is currently building an eight-screen theatre in Presque Isle, Me.

The success of the Garden, said Mayor Reed, will depend on the support it receives from townspeople and students. He added — in the spirit of town-gown cooperation that brought the lights back to the Garden — "If there's anything that pulls this town together, it's lining up at the Garden."

Declining Enrollment at Princeton High Causes Worry at School Board Meeting

A decline in enrollment at Princeton High School was the subject of worried attention at last Tuesday night's School Board meeting. The high school counted 79 fewer students than it had last year. Nearly every other grade in the District showed an increase in enrollment.

In addition to the loss in total enrollment, there was a drop-off from grade to grade. The 204 students in the ninth grade at PHS last year fell to 171 in this year's tenth grade. A drop of eight was seen between 10th and 11th grade, and a loss of 19 appeared between 11th and 12th.

Adding to this troubling mix was the fact that the high school failed to meet its enrollment projections for the year by 50 students.

"I would like to see us do something in the way of exit interviews," said former School Board member Debbie Curtis. "This drop at the high school is pretty severe."

Former Board Member Patty Soffronoff, who was also in the audience, said that the School Board needed to be aware of why people are leaving the schools.

"Students are required to go to class," he said. "Parents are told when students do not go to class. Students who do not go to class face sanctions."

The principal also said that teachers are now able to teach with the doors to their classrooms open, because the halls are quiet, and that the number of students leaving the campus is 90 percent less than it has been in the recent past.

The hiring of a campus monitor has also enabled the new Board policy that bans smoking on school property to be 100 percent effective, said Mr. Snyder. He said there has been no smoking by students or staff

TOPICS Of the Town

School Board President John Clearwater said the superintendent and high school principal were in the process of initiating a way to identify the causative element that should be dealt with. "We need to take a look at it," he said.

"We will look at the reasons for this, and the results will be publicly reported," said Interim Superintendent of Schools Richard Willever. He told Ms. Curtis that her suggestion of exit interviews was a good one, and said the District wants to find out this year where the students went, and why.

Fewer Cut Classes

High School Interim Principal Owen Snyder was asked by the Board for an update on the high school since its opening. He began by stating that significant progress had been achieved in reducing the number of cut classes.

"In October 1989, when I came on staff, 235 students cut at least one class on October 15," said Mr. Snyder. "It varied between 235 and 250 cutting at least one class a day every day."

The number was reduced in succeeding years to 181 and 161. Last year, he said, 131 students cut at least one class.

Mr. Snyder told the Board that only 11 students had cut class on October 15 of this year.

members on campus since the ban went into effect on October 1.

But the principal expressed disappointment that only a small number of students and no staff members have taken advantage of the stop-smoking programs that are available.

The School Board was informed by Carole Larsen, its search consultant, that she was working with a pool of 41 active candidates for the position of school superintendent. The resumes came from ads placed in the Star Ledger, New York Times, Education Week, and several other publications.

The vast majority of the candidates are male, and nearly half have served as superintendents. About a third are from New Jersey.

Ms. Larsen said the quality of applicants was high, and predicted that the interview pool will be strong.

Young Achievers

Shirley Paris, coordinator of the Young Achievers' program, told the Board that 110 students had signed up for the program (formerly referred to as neighborhood learning centers), which is being funded by the State desegregation grant.

Forty-five children are attending the Community Park center. Of these, 22 are Spanish-speaking children who are enrolled in the District's English as a Second Language program. In addition, 40 students have entered the program at Princeton Community Village, and 25 have signed up at Redding Circle.

Ms. Paris reported that there had been a very positive response from parents and students.

The School Board approved the Princeton High School Choir's April trip to the National High School Invitational Choral Festival in Washington, D.C. The Choir will be responsible for raising all necessary funds. The cost for the trip is estimated at $26,276.

The Board was also informed that the State will begin its monitoring in the fall of 1994. The monitoring is done to evaluate the performance of each public school district.

Mr. Clearwater announced that the Board would not be able to vote on whether to approve the contract with the Princeton Regional Administrators' Association because "some additional items have to be dealt with." Neither the School Board nor the union will discuss the terms of the tentative contract.

The School Board paid tribute to Richard Godfrey, who has resigned to accept a job in Providence, R.I.

"I feel very bad in leaving at this time," said Mr. Godfrey.

Veterans' Day Services

Veterans' Day Services will be held at two sites on November 11, reports Edward Geisel, Commander of American Legion Princeton Post 76.

The first will be at 11 a.m. at the Princeton Memorial Monument at the foot of Mercer and Stockton streets. Post members will then proceed to the Veterans' Monument in Dutch Neck.

At both sites, rifle volleys and taps will be sounded in honor of all servicemen and women who gave their lives for our country.

"I am sorry not to finish the work I began on the Board."

He said he especially wanted to recognize former Board President Gerald Groves as "one of the initial people to see that there had to be changes in the Princeton schools."

Mr. Godfrey said he hoped the momentum for change would continue, and also hoped the public would continue to be involved in the process.

Health Dept. Is Sued By Cigarette Vendors

A suit to stop the Regional Health Commission from enforcing its ordinance banning cigarette vending machines in Princeton has been filed in Superior Court by several cigarette vending machine firms.

The companies claim that the ban, which is scheduled to go into effect November 15, will damage them financially and will unconstitutionally take their property without compensation. They also state that the regulation is not rational because its purpose of keeping cigarettes from minors can be accomplished without a ban.

"The Health Commission explored a number of ways to try to prevent access to vending machines by young people," said Health Commission Attorney Michael Herbert. "They conducted hearings, heard testimony, and, as I understand it, the Commission was of the judgment that all half measures would be ineffective and would require continuous scrutiny."

Mr. Herbert argued that the State has the right to regulate cigarette vending machines, just as it does the disposal of hazardous waste and the selling of firearms.

He believes that, in the absence of state regulations, the municipalities have police power to undertake measures to prevent public health hazards.

On November 12, the cigarette vendors will appear before Superior Court Judge Philip Carchman to ask for an order to stop the Health Commission ban until a trial is held on its lawfulness.

Mr. Herbert said he was confident that the ban will be upheld, "but it may require a trial to get to the facts of the dispute."

N.J. Governor's Race Is Subject for Pundits

A group of leading political analysts and consultants will gather at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs on Thursday at 4:30 in Dodds Auditorium, Robertson Hall, to discuss the reasons behind the outcome of the gubernatorial campaign.

"The New Jersey race is one of only two gubernatorial campaigns in the country," said

Firing of Borough Patrolman Upheld by Judge

After hearing two days' testimony, Superior Court Judge Philip Carchman Monday upheld the firing in March of Ptl. Vincent DeMartino by the Borough Public Safety Committee. Ptl. DeMartino had been charged by Chief Thomas Michaud with twice assaulting Russell Terlecki, a Trenton State College student, in the hallway of Marita's Cantina on September 25, 1992.

At the same time, Judge Carchman also upheld two suspensions against Ptl. Robert Shoblock: a 15-day suspension that stemmed from the officer's role in the Terlecki affair and a 30-day suspension for leading a fellow Borough officer on a high-speed chase down Nassau Street on Christmas Eve.

Both Mr. DeMartino and Ptl. Shoblock declined to say if they would appeal Judge Carchman's ruling.

Commented Chief Michaud this week, "This issue is finally at a close — I hope. I think we as a department need to put it behind us."

"It was an unfortunate situation, but I think we dealt with it appropriately, and I hope we have rehabilitated some of our respect in the community. We're going to go on and do the best job we can."

"We have a lot of good officers. This was an isolated incident," Chief Michaud concluded.

Mr. DeMartino was charged with first grabbing Mr. Terlecki about the throat and then assaulting him a second time a short while later by banging his head against a wall, both times without any physical provocation by Mr. Terlecki Judge Carchman said.

Mr. DeMartino had also been charged with several violations of the rules and regulations of the police department: that he failed to conduct himself in such a manner as to avoid bringing the department into disrepute and that he failed to protect life and preserve the peace and enforce the law.

Dealing with persons who may be difficult and who may have an axe to grind is "the lifeblood of a police officer," Judge Carchman stated in his ruling. "One never leaves the role of a police officer."

The charge against Ptl. Shoblock was that he failed to act as a police officer and attempt to intervene between Officer DeMartino and Mr. Terlecki and defuse the situation. He was further charged with being drunk and giving false testimony during the subsequent investigation.

Saying that as a law enforcement officer he was required by law to try to restrain Ptl. DeMartino, Ptl. Shoblock, Judge Carchman said, did the opposite. He said he would go along with the 15-day suspension that Chief Michaud had originally recommended and that was approved by the Safety Committee but "reluctantly."

Judge Carchman also expressed his opinion that Ptl. Shoblock got off easily when he was suspended for only 30 days for the speeding incident in which he is alleged to have reached speeds of 90 miles an hour before stopping near the Kingston bridge. Both suspensions ran concurrently.

Our panelists have a great deal of insight on campaigns in general and on what the results of the New Jersey campaign mean."

Those scheduled to participate include, Paul Begala, of the political campaign consulting firm Carville and Begala, who helped run President Clinton's campaign; Doug Berman, who was Jim Florio's campaign manager in 1988 and consulted on his 1993 campaign; Jim Andrews, Governor Florio's campaign manager; Dan Todd, Christie Whitman's brother and campaign manager; Ed Rollins, who created President Ronald Reagan's 1984 "Morning in America" campaign and served as Christie Whitman's campaign consultant; and Hazel Gluck, co-campaign chairman for Christie Whitman.

The event is sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School and Princeton University's Council on New Jersey Affairs.

3-Car Collision Monday: One Hurt on Mercer Rd.

During rush hour Monday evening at 5:30, there was a three-car rear-end collision on Mercer Road between Lovers Lane and Springdale.

All three cars were headed out of town when a 1993 Saturn — the last car in line — driven by Deanna March, 26, of Burlington, ran into the rear of a small car operated by Nkechi Unanka. Ms. Unanka's Ford Tempo, in turn, was pushed into the rear of a 1987 Plymouth Voyager driven by Karen Bush, 36, of Trenton.

Ms. Unanka, 32, was transported by the Princeton First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center where she was admitted for observation for undetermined injuries. Ms. March was issued a summons for careless driving by Ptl. William Nathan. The accident is still under investigation.

Home Entered, Looted On Witherspoon Street

A home in the 200 block of Witherspoon Street was entered through an unlocked, rear, second-story bathroom window last week and looted of ten items worth a combined $1,371.

The most expensive items were a video camera valued at $779.98 and a $200 VCR. Also taken were miscellaneous articles of jewelry including a pair of 14K gold earrings and two 14K gold bracelets.

Lt. Mario Musso reported that Township police believe the intruder exited through a front door. The entry took place between 9 Friday evening and five minutes after midnight Saturday morning.

Borough police report an entry and attempted burglary at the Third World Center, 86 Olden Street.

Around 9 Friday evening, an alarm sounded in the Department of Public Safety building on the University campus. Proctors responded to the scene. One proctor on the front porch, peering through a window, observed a black male, 28 to 30 years old, with short hair and a moustache inside, carrying a plastic trash bag. He was seen going down a stairwell to the basement.

When Borough police officers arrived as backup, police and proctors searched the basement. Near a basement exit door they recovered the plastic bag containing a VCR that had been taken from a first-floor room.

The suspect was not apprehended. Captain Peter Hanley said that he is believed to have escaped through the cellar door. The VCR which police recovered is valued at $200.

Three Dozen Neighbors Discuss Area Concerns

Some three dozen residents of the John-Witherspoon neighborhood met at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church this past Saturday morning to discuss their concerns.

The meeting was initiated by Borough Councilwoman Mildred Trotman and ministers of the neighborhood's churches as a way of getting problems out into the open and helping to solve them.

Garbage and overcrowding were the two main concerns expressed at the meeting. But the neighbors also took the opportunity to bring smaller, less cosmic, problems to the attention of the governing body.

Three members of Borough Council, in addition to Ms. Trotman, were present: David Goldfarb, Jane Terpstra, and Roger Martindell.

One woman said that the wrong kind of ginkgo tree had been planted on John Street. "It's beautiful, but it has fruit and it smells."

Another woman complained about the supermarket shopping carts left abandoned on the streets. A third resident said street sweeping in the neighborhood was inadequate.

The Subject of Garbage

On the subject of garbage, one woman said that the garbage men leave garbage on the street after it falls during the loading of the truck.

"They never pick it up," she said. "It makes our area look like Tobacco Road."

Another complaint was that garbage cans are sometimes thrown in the street and then run over, forcing residents to buy new cans.

"People have to be educated as to what day to put things out," said one woman. "I'm getting tired of seeing garbage and old couches when I go to church on Sunday."

The residents were advised to call the Borough Engineering Office with their complaints about garbage pickup.

"I am concerned about overcrowding," said one resident. "This is no reflection on Hispanics, but there are multitudes of people living in one apartment."

"There are a lot of houses with overcrowding problems," said another resident. "I think this has the potential to destroy the neighborhood."

A woman spoke of a small house in the John-Witherspoon neighborhood in which she once lived. It was barely large enough for three, she said, and there are now 13 people living there. "Thirteen people in that tiny place may be better than what they came from, but it's awful," she said.

The danger facing cars trying to enter Witherspoon Street from Green Street was brought to the meeting's attention by a man who said there was a similar problem on Maclean Street. "It's a wonder someone hasn't been killed," he said.

The man added that he had spoken to Borough Council some time ago about putting up a convex mirror to assist with visibility. The mirror has been approved, said Ms. Trotman, who said she would follow up on the issue.

Another resident asked why only the residents of public housing were getting the commodities distributed to low-income residents and senior citizens.

Ms. Trotman replied that this was because no one in the Princeton area was able to go down to the distribution center to pick up the food.

"There should be enough people in town who could volunteer," said the woman who raised the question. "It could be brought to the churches. If they bring it to Elm Court, they could bring it to the churches."

$3,000 Computer Missing From Walker Hall Room

A Princeton University student returned from fall break Saturday to discover that during her absence, her $3,000 Macintosh computer had been stolen from her room in Walker Hall. The victim told police she found her door unlocked and a window wide open.

On Sunday, a woman about 20 years old with short blonde hair entered a Nassau Street liquor store and attempted to pay for a $10 pint bottle of scotch with a check. The clerk, police said, declined to accept the check and while he was waiting on another customer, the suspect walked out with the bottle of scotch.

Two bicycles were stolen last week. One was a $400 Trek mountain bike taken from outside Forhes College, where the student owner had left it locked to itself.

A BMX bike stolen overnight from the front porch of a Red Oak Row home should not be difficult to spot. Township police describe it as a green Predator model, with pink handlebars and white tires. It is valued at $290.

Fire Damages Ford Van In Institute Garage

A 1982 Ford van was damaged by a fire in a parking garage early Saturday morning at the Institute for Advanced Study on Olden Lane.

According to police, Leroy Alloway, a security guard, was checking the building around 2 in the morning when he noticed flames coming from the garage. He attempted to remove vehicles from inside but was overcome by smoke. Mr. Alloway refused treatment and called for help.

A general alarm was sounded, sending all three volunteer fire companies to the scene. Before the fire was brought under control, the interior and exterior of the garage and the van were damaged in the blaze. No other vehicles were damaged, police said.

Township Fire Marshall Ted Cashel reported that the fire may have been caused by the inappropriate storing of paint materials inside the van.

Book Fair Is Coming Up At Princeton Day School

Princeton Day School will hold its annual Book Fair to benefit the library on Monday through Thursday, November 11. The selection will feature quality paperback and hardcover books for preschoolers through adults. In addition, calendars, notecards and gift items will be available.

The Book Fair will have an opening night kick-off beginning at 6:30 p.m. on Monday. Several faculty members will speak on ways to enrich children's reading experiences. During the talk, entertainment will be provided for children. The Book Fair will then be open until 8 p.m. for shopping. Noted Princeton authors Kathryn (Kitsi) Watterson and Howard Greenfeld will be available to sign copies of their books.

Ms. Watterson is the author of The Safe Medicine Book and You Must Be Dreaming, soon to be a television movie. Mr. Greenfeld is the author of numerous books, including The Devil and Dr. Barnes, Books — From Writer to Reader,

Two Smoke Conditions But No Fires

There were two smoke conditions reported Monday afternoon in the Borough within two minutes of each other. Both were caused by a malfunctioning ballast starter in a fluorescent light fixture.

The first report was at 4:43 in the Methodist Church on the corner of Nassau and Vandeventer; the second at 4:45 at 21 Prospect Avenue — the old Cannon Club. "A lot of smoke but no fire," said Capt. Peter Hanley.

and several volumes in the First Impressions series (on Marc Chagall and Paul Gauguin). His latest book, The Hidden Children, will be released shortly.

Regular hours, starting Tuesday, will be 8:30 to 5. All are welcome.

Two Charged with DWI In Separate Accidents

Two drivers were charged by Township police with driving while intoxicated, following accidents early last week.

Louis DiPerna, 28, of Ringoes, who operates his own business at 30 Baldwin Lane, was also charged with careless driving, driving while his license was suspended and having no insurance, after his pickup truck ran off Cherry Valley Road last Wednesday morning and struck a drainage ditch and a tree.

Two days earlier, Luciano Arias, 36, of Falls Church, Va. was also charged with leaving the scene of an accident, careless driving and operating with a suspended Virginia driver's license, after he caused a three-car accident at the intersection of The Great Road and Drake's Corner Road.

Mr. DiPerna suffered head injuries and was taken to Princeton Medical Center where blood samples were drawn and sent to a State Police lab for testing. Upon his arrival at the scene at 12:24 in the morning, Ptl. Harry Conover reported that he detected an odor of alcohol on the breath of the driver.

DiPerna told the officer that he was driving west on Cherry Valley when he experienced problems with his 1988 Ford pickup which caused him to drive off the roadway. The accident occurred a tenth of a mile from the intersection of Heather Lane.

Mr. Arias was driving north on The Great Road at 11 last Monday morning in a 1986 blue Taurus when he ran into the rear of a 1993 Accord driven by Valerie B. Young, of 76 Moores Mill-Mount Rose Road, Hopewell.

The impact pushed the Young car into the rear of a 1990 Taurus which had been stopped with its turn signal flashing, waiting for southbound traffic on The Great Road to pass before turning left onto Drake's Corner Road. It was operated by Deborah M. Jordan, of 150 Jefferson Road.

After colliding with the car in front, the Young car was pushed to the right where it struck a mailbox at 1107 The Great Road and continued on 72 feet before coming to rest.

Ms. Young complained of back pain and Mrs. Jordan of a sore back and neck but both refused medical treatment at the scene. Arias and two passengers, Casar Guzman, 33, and Ruben Gonzalez, 25, both residents of Leigh Avenue, all escaped injury. The two Taurus sedans had to be towed.

Arias was later arraigned in Borough court and was released on $500 bail. His initial hearing was moved to Borough court because the Borough had an interpreter present. Police said he speaks virtually no English.

GIFT FAIR AHEAD: Looking forward to the Annual Nursery Gift Fair at the Jewish Center on Wednesday, November 10, are, from left, Linda and Joelle Nitzberg, Katie, Jake and Benjamin Benrubi, Germaine and Ali Tartacoff, Ellen and Jaclyn Spector and Lauren, Seth and Brynne Fenster.

After the collision, witnesses said that Arias turned west and sped down Drake's Corner Road, which has no outlet. Police said he was unfamiliar with the area and had to turn around and come back east again on Drake's Corner. He was stopped by Ptl. Ernest Silagyi Jr., who had arrived on the scene, and placed under arrest.

Mrs. Jordan, who was on her way to pick up her son at the nursery school near the intersection, was upset. "Every mom is appalled about this," she said. "When you're driving drunk in front of a nursery school at 11 a.m., it is only an act of God that no one was hurt."

Setting a low bail for someone who has no community ties here, she added, and who is facing a mandatory jail term for leaving the scene of an accident where people were injured, and whose hearing is set two months from now gives him no incentive to return.

Setting such a low bail, Mrs. Jordan continued, "is a joke. You might as well parole him." A more appropriate, more meaningful bail, she felt, would have been $5,000.

School Board Candidates Will Appear in Forum

On Wednesday evening, November 3, at 8 p.m. in Valley Road conference room, the three candidates for Richard Godfrey's seat on the School Board will appear in an open forum that will include a question and answer period.

The forum is sponsored by The Robeson Group, a community group concerned with the problems of minority and other students in the Princeton District.

The three candidates are William Gipson, Ruth Boulet, and Ronald Plummer.

The School Board will hold an open interview of the candidates at a meeting on November 9. Members will then select Mr. Godfrey's replacement, who will serve until the April 1994 School Board reorganization meeting.

11 Births Are Reported At the Medical Center

In the week ending October 28, eight boys and three girls were born to area residents at Princeton Medical Center.

Sons were born to Peter and Kathryn Ligeti of Princeton Junction, Joe and Kris Maglich of Lawrenceville, both October 25; Darryl and Cheryl Kuebler of Plainsboro, Timothy and Grainne Laprade of Plainsboro, both October 26;

Also to Bruce and Bonnie Abrahams of Skillman, October 27; Abbes and Diana Bahri of Princeton, Thomas and Marieanne Field of Lawrenceville, and Robert and Amy Ahrensdoerf of Lawrenceville, all on October 28.

Daughters were born to Lillia Rodriguez and Alejandro Roca of Princeton, October 24; Jeffrey and Karlene Bethea of Princeton, October 25; and Daniel and Tracy Fenton of Hopewell, October 27.

News Commentator To Speak on Clinton

Distinguished NBC journalist and new Princeton resident, John Chancellor, will present an Edwin F. Ferris Lecture on "Clinton — One Year After the Election," Tuesday at 4:30 in McCosh 50. The talk is sponsored by the Humanities Council at Princeton University to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Chancellor to Princeton.

Until his recent retirement, Mr. Chancellor spent more than 40 years as a correspondent, anchor and commentator for NBC News. A principal figure in the network's coverage of national and international events, he covered four wars and ten presidential campaigns and reported from more than 50 countries. He has served as the resident NBC correspondent in Vienna, London, Moscow, Brussels, and Berlin.

He was in Germany when the Wall went up in 1961, and back there in 1989 when the Wall came down. During the Desert Storm ground war, he was in the field with American troops in southern Iraq and Kuwait. In the course of his long career, Mr. Chancellor has interviewed all American presidents since Harry Truman and virtually every major world leader. He is co-author of The News Business and author of Perils and Promise, A Commentary on America, which was a national best-seller in 1990.

Mischief Night Quiet

Perhaps the rainy weather was a contributing factor, but both Township and Borough police report "mischief night" on Saturday was quiet.

"Hardly anything at all," said Lt. Mario Musso in the Township. "Again, for the third or fourth year in a row, we were not busy. There was very little soaping."

"Very quiet," echoed Capt. Peter Hanley in the Borough. "Nothing of any significance. I don't think we even had a pumpkin smashed."

Princeton Medical Center Holding Open House This Week To Show Off New State-of-the-Art Maternity Facilities

Princeton Medical Center is holding open house this week on the fourth floor of the new B-wing addition to show off its new maternity facilities.

To one who remembers the resistance of Princeton Hospital in the late 1950s-early 1960s to natural childbirth, fathers in the labor and delivery rooms, and the rooming-in of newborn infants with their mothers, the new facilities represent a leap forward in patient comfort, family accommodation and hospital technology that was unimaginable back then.

The new Single Room Maternity Care Unit consists of 21 private LDRP (labor, delivery, recovery and postpartum) rooms, plus three private rooms on the same floor near the Caesarian Operating Suites and the Special Care Nursery, all on the same floor. Each room is significantly larger than traditional maternity rooms and has several large windows.

Each is individually decorated in Colonial Williamsburg colors, with stencilling on the walls and ruffled valances at the windows. Each has either an upholstered sleep chair that makes up into a single bed, or a wooden rocking chair that glides forward and back rather than up and down.

For baby, there is a bassinet atop an oak chest of drawers on wheels, and an oak-trimmed bed for mother that turns into a birthing chair/delivery table and reverts to a bed again. A large color TV and a small drop-leaf oak table with two chairs complete the regular furnishings. Each room has its own commodious bathroom, plus a pantry area with sink, small refrigerator and cabinets galore.

Cherry paneling along the wall behind the bed conceals equipment for suctioning the newborn and delivering oxygen if needed. A fetal heart monitor is wheeled into the room during labor and delivery and removed afterwards. Connected to the nursing stations, the monitor enables the staff to monitor the baby at all times and from any area in the maternity unit.

Room for Family Members

Other accoutrements for delivery, such as a special infant warmer and a cart with everything the attending physician will need, are also wheeled in and removed after delivery. Even with all this equipment there is plenty of room for as many family members as the mother wishes. There are family lounges down the hall as well, and two "nourishment stations," which will have a refrigerator, microwave and hot water.

A radiant panel in the ceiling over the end of the bed can be activated to warm mother and baby after delivery. Push buttons in the siderails of her bed enable her to turn on the TV and the lights in her room as well as position the bed for greater support for her back and buttocks.

A lighting system that signals green for "visitors welcome," red for emergency and white for nurse's assistance can also be activated from the siderail. Finally, as in any first class modern hotel, each room has its own temperature control. The only thing missing is carpeting on the floor.

There are two large nurseries in the unit where baby can be wheeled when mother needs to sleep, plus an evaluation room, a large nursing station, two smaller nursing stations and a chart room. The unit also boasts a jacuzzi, intended as a relaxation device for women in early labor.

Instead of separate nurses for babies and for mothers, the unit will have mother/baby nursing. A single nurse per shift will be assigned to each mother and infant, caring for them as a couple instead of as individual patients.

For newborns who require more intensive care, the Special Care Nursery is around the corner. Staffed by two full-time board certified neonatologists, this nursery can care for infants born as early as 32 week's gestation and term infants who are mildly to moderately ill.

According to Barbara Berger, director of nursing, maternal/child, Mercer Medical Center also has a single-room maternity care unit, but there are only a handful in the entire state.

What a difference 30 years can make!

D&R Canal Commission To Set New Regulations

The Delaware and Raritan Canal Commission, a State agency charged with oversight of the historic Delaware and Raritan Canal, is proposing to adopt new land-use regulations that will affect new development in the 400-square-mile watershed of the canal.

James C. Amon, executive director of the Canal Commission, said that the new regulations are a continuation of a regulatory program that was begun in 1980. "We began in 1980," Mr. Amon said, "with regulations that set region-wide standards for stormwater management to protect the canal from flooding and pollution, and regulations that required set-backs from the Canal Park's edges for any new construction."

Friends Will Support Choral Music at PHS

A group of graduates, parents and admirers of the choral program at Princeton High School is forming a Friends group to support and encourage the continuing excellence of the four choirs at PHS. Their goal is to advocate quality vocal education in a K-12 curriculum; to provide extra enrichments to the program through fundraising efforts; and to educate themselves and the general public about the importance of arts education in the total learning experience.

Everyone interested is invited to an exploratory meeting on Thursday evening, November 11, at 7:30. Call 921-2890 for further details.

"Then in 1989 and 1990," Mr. Amon continued, "we increased some of the set-back requirements and added new regulations to address impacts on the Canal Park from traffic and to preserve corridors along streams that enter the Canal Park. The regulations that are presently being proposed are essentially a continuation of what we have been working with, but minor clarifications have been made."

Changes in the proposed regulations include:

- A procedure which allowed projects from some municipalities to be given preemptory approval has been dropped because it was not used.

- A new section which establishes procedures and standards for projects that have received general development approval has been added.

- The Canal Commission, and not the Department of Environmental Protection and Energy, is responsible in the new regulations for adopting the rules and for reviewing requests for hearings.

- Those projects that are subject to traffic impact review are no longer restricted to "on site" planning techniques to mitigate the impact of traffic on the Canal Park.

The full text of the proposed regulations has been printed in the November 1 edition of the New Jersey Register and can be reviewed at the Commission's office in Stockton. Written comments on the proposed regulations may be sent to the Commission at P.O. Box 539, Stockton, 08559.

For more information, call Mr. Amon at 397-2000.

Author Signing Scheduled At Micawber Bookstore

L. Marc Fields, author of From the Bowery to Broadway: Lew Fields and the Roots of American Popular Theater, will be at Micawber Books on Friday from 5:30 to 7:30 for a reading and signing of the book, which is a history of American popular theater through the career of Mr. Field's great-great uncle.

From his stage debut as a youngster in a Bowery amateur show to his farewell appearance on the opening night bill at Radio City Music Hall, Lew Fields was involved in virtually every form of popular entertainment — the dime museum to the circus, the minstrel show and vaudeville, revues, "book musicals," and operettas, as well as recordings, silent films, radio and talkies.

Drawing on a wealth of research, anecdotes and historical insight, L. Marc Fields and his father and co-author, Armond Fields, have woven a history of show business through the triumphs and disasters of one of its most animated, lively originators.

L. Marc Fields is a screenwriter and teacher in the Graduate Film and Television Program at New York University.

Peer Group Gathering Includes McCarter Play

More than 1,000 high school seniors will attend a performance at McCarter Theatre of Twilight: Los Angeles, 1992, Anna Deavere Smith's performance about the effect of the Rodney King verdict on the Los Angeles community.

They will see the play Wednesday, November 10, while attending the annual conference sponsored by the Princeton Center for Leadership Training for high school peer leaders participating in the Peer Group Connection. The highlight of this year-long program, now in place in more than 100 high schools, is the urban-suburban conference which brings together student leaders from throughout the northeast for a day of activities related to the theme, "Living in a Multicultural Society: We Can Get Along!"

TEACHER HONORED: Bert Lain, a teacher at Princeton Latin Academy, has been awarded a certificate of distinction in teaching by the Derek Bok Center for Teaching and Learning at Harvard University. Mr. Lain was on leave from Princeton Latin Academy last year and is back teaching Latin, Greek, epics and ancient history to students in grades three through eight. He is shown with James Tallett and Megan Tucker, sixth graders.

Using the power of peer influence to assist students in making a successful transition from middle school to high school, the Peer Group Connection trains teams of high school seniors to help groups of first-year students become involved in the school community and successfully manage the pressures of adolescence. It also provides the older students with experiential training in leadership and group dynamics. The program is in place in urban, suburban, public and private schools in eight states. The annual conference is one of the few places where students from these different types of schools get the chance to talk face to face and work together on issues of common concern.

Area Writers Featured In Literary Magazine

The 1993 issue of the Kelsey Review, Mercer County Community College's literary magazine, is available to the public in area libraries.

The review, which was open to submissions from anyone living or working in Mercer County, contains a variety of poetry, prose and essays. This year the journal also includes black and white drawings by area artists.

Area residents whose work is included are Judy Michaels and Georgia Strong Witt of Hopewell; Ilene Dube, Bill Plank and John Timpone of Lawrenceville; Matthew Kearney of Pennington; Colin Cigarran, Betty Lies, Virginia Lockwood, Louise Handelman, Janet Kirk, Mukul Pandya, Mary Lou Stevenson and D.E. Steward of Princeton.

Submissions for the next issue of the Kelsey Review are due by May 1.

For more information or for a free copy of the Kelsey Review, call 586-4800, extension 326. Back issues are also available.

Conditioning for Skiers Using In-line Skates

The Princeton YWCA Athletic Department will sponsor a one-day workshop entitled "Skate to Ski: In-line Skating for Skiers" Sunday from 1 to 4.

Participants will put on in-line skates to practice turns. A certified ski instructor will give tips on stance, weight transfer, angulation and more to help participants get a jump on the upcoming ski season. The YWCA recommends that students wear knee and elbow pads and helmets.

The fee is $10 for YWCA members and $15 for non-members.

Used Clothing Collection

The Princeton Shopping Center and the Rescue Mission of Trenton will hold their third annual "Caring Through Clothing" collection on Saturday, November 13, from 10 to 4. Rescue Mission trucks will be in the parking lot of the Shopping Center on North Harrison Street to receive used clothing to support the Mission's work with "those who have no other place to turn." Last year more than three tons of clothing were contributed during the day.

The Rescue Mission can make use of good used clothing of all sizes, seasons and genders. Contributed clothing is given to indigent persons or sold in one of the three outlet stores operated by the Mission. Proceeds from the sales go to support the Mission's programs. All donations are tax deductible.

The Mission is the primary provider of emergency shelter in the Trenton area and also runs a long-term residential treatment program for chronically addicted persons. All residents participate in a work therapy program which teaches job-related skills.

Improvisational Theatre Due at John Witherspoon

John Witherspoon Middle School and the Senior Resource Center will again host Autumn Stages, an older adult improvisational theatre, on Wednesday, November 10, from 1 to 3 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

This group is comprised of 12 older actors who enjoy performing theme skits designed for the intergenerational population. Autumn Stages attempts to re-establish the link between the older and younger generations.

To register to attend, call 924-7108. Transportation will be provided at 12:30 from Elm Court; 12:45 from Redding Circle; and 12:55 from Spruce Circle/Senior Resource Center.

Area Projects Receive Funds from Green Acres

State Green Acres funds totalling more than $8 million for acquisition of open space in the Princeton area was announced last week by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy.

The funds for this area were part of a $75 million total in Green Acres funding for projects throughout the state. Nearly $60 million of this amount was made in grants and loans to municipalities and counties. Matching grants totalling $16.2 million went to nonprofit organizations such as the Friends of Princeton Open Space and the Delaware & Raritan Greenway. These appropriations are contingent on legislative approval.

Two matching grants totalling $800,000 were for acquisition of acreage around Tusculum, the John Witherspoon homestead off Cherry Hill Road that is for sale. The New Jersey Conservation Foundation in Morristown was awarded a matching grant of $500,000 for pathway easements to connect Mountain Lakes Reserve to Tusculum.

Friends of Princeton Open Space was awarded a matching grant of $300,000 for purchase of 14 acres at the rear of the Tusculum property. This acreage would form a corridor between the Mountain Lakes Reserve to the south and John

Grant for Cradle Rock

The Delaware & Raritan Greenway won matching grants for five projects totalling $2.5 million. One $500,000 grant is for the purchase of a 128-acre tract off Province Line Road in Hopewell Township that includes the Cradle Rock formation. The area is well known to climbers for its diabase boulder fields and rocky outcroppings with scenic vistas.

The acreage includes wetlands areas that support a variety of plants including the wild comfrey, on the New Jersey list of endangered species, and woodlands that are a breeding habitat for a number of bird species.

The D&R Greenway also won $500,000 for purchase of 55 acres of rural property near Griggstown that would be added to the D&R Canal Park. Some of the lands are wooded, with the fields on the east side of the canal mainly in agriculture. The property at Bunker Hill and Canal Road is a link in the proposed open space corridor which will buffer and parallel the canal between Griggstown and Six Mile Run.

Three projects designed to develop a Stony Brook Greenway received $500,000 each in matching grants. One is a 302-acre tract at the northern or top end of the Stony Brook in the Sourland Mountains. Preservation of these properties will link McBurney Woods Preserve, a recent D&R Greenway acquisition, to the Hunterdon County Preserve and Highfields.

Another is a 49-acre forested property off Penn View Drive in Pennington that will be linked with the Baldwin Lake Wildlife Management Area. A planned footpath will eventually connect Pennington Borough to the Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association.

The Watershed Association itself received a $500,000 matching grant for purchase of easements on 125 acres adjoining the Watershed Reserve. The two properties complete the association's holdings along Wargo Road between Titus Mill and Moores Mill-Mount Rose roads.

Farm on Cold Soil Road

The third Stony Brook Greenway grant made to the D&R Greenway is for a 36-acre farm on Cold Soil Road bordering Stony Brook. A trail along the brook will connect with Rosedale Park and nearly complete a link to the Transco Preserve.

Montgomery Township was awarded $900,000 for open space acquisition along a proposed corridor connecting the Board of Education properties along Burnt Hill Road with Montgomery Park on Harlingen Road. The grant would enable Montgomery to seek easements across a 72-acre farm at the intersection of Dead Tree and Bridgepoint roads. Montgomery will seek a conservation easement on part of the property, which would permit farming to continue there.

Montgomery also won a $150,000 grant toward construction of a lighted athletic field complex on lands behind the municipal building. The total cost is estimated at $500,000, and Montgomery will have to decide whether to bond the remaining cost or apply for more Green Acres funding next year.

Finally, Friends of Hopewell Valley Open Space received $500,000 for acquisition of additional land for Hopewell Valley Park.

The largest single award was $3.4 million to Mercer County for acquisition of additional acreage for Rosedale Park. The total includes $850,000 as an outright grant and $2.55 million as a 20-year loan at 2 percent interest. Mercer County also received $2 million for Crosswicks Creek greenway acquisition in Hamilton and $600,000 for purchase of a riverfront park in South Trenton alongside the minor league baseball stadium that will soon be under construction.

"The Dining Room" Set By Pennington Players

The Pennington Players will present A.R. Gurney's The Dining Room this weekend and next at Pennington United Methodist Church.

Gurney uses the dining room, the place where the characters gather, as the focal point to show their feelings and interactions. The play will be directed by Adam Gee and produced by John Kling. Performances will be this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and Friday and Saturday, November 12 and 13. For information call 466-1010.

Poets Espada, Terranova To Read at Arts Council

Puerto Rican poet Martin Espada, whose book, City of Coughing and Dead Radiators, deals with his cultural heritage and work experience, will read at the Arts Council on Thursday. He is the author of three previous books, The Immigrant Iceboy's Bolero, Trumpets from the Islands of Their Eviction and Rebellion and Is the Circle of a Lover's Hands. His work has appeared in such literary magazines as The Kenyon Review and Ploughshares.

Mr. Espada's awards include two NEA fellowships, the PEN/Revson Fellowship, and the Paterson Poetry Prize. He is an assistant professor of English at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Reading with Mr. Espada will be Philadelphia poet Elaine Terranova, winner of the Walt Whitman Award of the Academy of American Poets for her book The Cult of the Right Hand. Ms. Terranova has won numerous awards, including two Pennsylvania Council on the Arts fellowships and a Bread Loaf Writers' Conference fellowship. Her poems have appeared in The New Yorker, American Poetry Review, Boulevard, and other magazines, as well as in Blood To Remember: American Poets Write About the Holocaust.

The reading will begin at 8 p.m. and will be followed by a reception and book sale. Donations ($5; $3 for students and seniors) will be gratefully accepted. Profits from the book sale, as well as donations at the door, are used to help fund the poetry reading series.

Curlis Lake Property Acquired by Mercer Co.

Mercer County has purchased the 242.7-acre Curlis Lake Woods property on Federal City Road in Hopewell Township. Located across from Rosedale Park, the acquisition insures the preservation of an environmentally sensitive beech forest and the addition of an equestrian facility to the County park system.

The $2,912,592 sale price will be funded through a 25 percent Green Acres Grant and a 75 percent Green Acres low-interest loan. The loan will be paid through the Open Space Preservation Trust Fund.

"The Curlis Lake Woods acquisition is one more crucial element in our ongoing plan to develop a major park facility in the northwest portion of our County," said County Executive Robert D. Prunetti. "The property contains all the ingredients necessary for a successful recreational facility, like boating, fishing, hiking and horseback riding. In fact, the existing equestrian facility provides unique concession opportunities to offer riding lessons, horse rental, horse boarding, and various competitions."

5K Distance Run Sunday Is Open to the Public

Runners are invited to participate in a 5K Distance Run on Sunday at The Lawrenceville School to benefit New Jersey Special Olympics. Registration starts at 7:30 a.m., the race will start at 8:30. The registration fee, which includes a T-shirt and a continental breakfast, is $10 prior to the race and $15 on the morning of the race.

The 5K Distance Run will kick off the statewide Fall Sports Festival, which will take place Sunday at the school and skating rink. The event will feature athletic performances from more than 400 Special Olympics athletes, who will compete in cycling, soccer, volleyball, rollerskating, and unified golf.

Call 1-800-336-NJSO or (908) 562-1500 for registration materials.

New Jersey Special Olympics is a nonprofit organization that provides sports training and athletic competition to children and adults with mental retardation. More than 9,000 athletes compete in 20 sports year-round throughout New Jersey.

Author/Psychologist Set For a Talk at Marriott

The Holistic Health Association will sponsor a talk by Wayne Dyer, author of eight books including Your Erroneous Zones and You'll See it When You Believe It, Thursday, November 11, at 7:30 at the Princeton Marriott, Forrestal Village.

According to Dr. Dyer, "Miracles are achieved when we get beyond our own perceived limitations, trust in ourselves and our intuitions and believe that anything is possible." He is not talking about turning lead into gold, or parting ocean waters. Rather, Dr. Dyer teaches that miracles can be whatever we would normally consider beyond our abilities because of our erroneous beliefs about ourselves.

In his talk he will outline beliefs that are central to working miracles in our everyday lives. From creating a "miracle mindset" to specific strategies for working miracles in such areas as physical health and personal identity, he shows that miracles are within our reach and within our minds.

Admission to the talk is $17 for HHAPA members and $25 for non-members. For information call 924-8580.

Red Cross Volunteers Recognized at Event

Sixty-one volunteers who help run community blood drives for the Blood Services program of the Red Cross New Jersey Capital Area Chapter were recognized at an event held in their honor at CoreStates New Jersey National Bank headquarters on Scotch Road in Pennington.

Of the group recognized, five volunteers also received awards for five years of service to the program. They are William Brady and Richard Wernes of Princeton, Betty Cafiero of Jamesburg, Norma Hay of Lawrenceville, and Edward Weyer of Monmouth Junction.

The Montessori School Marks 25th Anniversary

Princeton Montessori School is celebrating its 25th anniversary. At a kick-off event on Sunday, October 17, the students, parents, alumni, faculty and board members enjoyed a picnic and entertainment by the Blawenburg Dixie Band and the Give & Take Jugglers on the school grounds. During a special ceremony, several people were recognized for their contributions to the school's success during the past 25 years. The day ended with the take-off of a hot air balloon.

Princeton Montessori School opened its doors in 1968 with 25 students enrolled in the Primary program (3 to 6 years old). Today the school has an enrollment of approximately 300 students from birth through the eighth grade. The school offers programs in two facilities in Princeton, on Cherry Valley Road and Drakes Corner Road.

A special highlight of the school's 25th anniversary is the development of several adult workshops and seminars to be offered during the 1993-94 school year. The faculty and board of trustees welcome parents, community members, and community educators to participate and obtain information regarding children's issues, family values and responsibilities, and adult issues.

Guest presenters include Dr. Nancy McCormick Rambusch, founder of the American Montessori Society and a professor at State University of New York in New Paltz, and Dr. Ashley Montagu, noted anthropologist and author. For more information and registration, call the school office at 924-4594.

"Children's Values — Parents' Responsibility" is the theme for a seminar to be led by Dr. Rambusch on Saturday from 9 to 2:30. The workshop will provide experiences for parents to assess their values and beliefs and to evaluate for themselves where they stand in articulating these values. Participants will then outline a personal plan for applying these values in making decisions regarding their child's growth and development.

Registration is open to the public. The cost of the workshop is $45 per person or $60 per couple and includes a buffet lunch. To register call the school office.

The Princeton Montessori School will hold an Open House at 407 Cherry Valley Road for parents of children from birth through age 14. Interested parents will see the students in session, meet the director and staff, and receive admission information.

Volunteers Are Needed For Saturday Clean-up

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association is sponsoring a Fall Clean Up Day Saturday, beginning at 8. Coffee, cider and doughnuts will be provided for early birds. Those who plan to stay all day are invited to bring a picnic lunch and enjoy the fall colors.

Trails, grounds and buildings are being prepared for the winter months ahead. Volunteer help for as many hours as you can give on that day in building repair and outdoor work would be greatly appreciated. No experience is necessary.

Building repair will involve minor carpentry, painting, some masonry and window and door repair. Work in the three-acre arboretum involves planting, tree pruning, raking leaves and fertilizing lawns. Posting signs, marking trails, putting down wood chips and fixing trail signs are other jobs that need doing.

If you have an interest in working outdoors with other volunteers who have the same enthusiasm for helping to preserve the Watershed Reserve call Jim Lytle at 737-3735. This activity is open to families, church groups, school groups, scout groups and all friends of the Watershed Association.

Drug Information Session Geared to Senior Citizens

"Everything You Wanted to Know About Drugs but Were Afraid to Ask Your Kids and Grandkids," an informational session on substance abuse sponsored by the Senior Resource Center, will be held Tuesday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at the Senior Resource Center, Spruce Circle.

The session will focus on current trends in substance abuse. The presentation will be geared to older citizens, many of whom serve as surrogate family members. Symptoms and drug paraphernalia will be discussed by a qualified counselor.

A free continental breakfast will be served. Call 924-7108 to register.

N.J. Symphony Orchestra, Westminster Choir Combine to Perform Two Major Haydn Works

There may have been only two pieces on the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra Chamber Series concert on Friday night, but each of these works could stand on its own. Both Franz Joseph Haydn's Symphony No. 100 in G Major (Military) and Mass in D Minor (Lord Nelson Mass) are compelling in their impact and are audience-pleasers in their musical effect and orchestration.

Guest conductor Joseph Flummerfelt led the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and Westminster Choir, as well as four vocal soloists, with conviction, and presented to the full house at Richardson Auditorium a solid performance of two significant works of the classical period.

One does not often see Joseph Flummerfelt, Director of Choral Activities at Westminster Choir College, conducting a purely orchestral work. In the restrained Adagio and chipper Allegro which began Symphony No. 100, Dr. Flummerfelt drew from the strings a deliberate and full sound and from the winds, a contrasting playfulness. This symphony may be "military" in its use of trumpet and tympany, but certainly not in its tunefulness. The orchestration of triangle, cymbal, and bass drum contributes a Turkish and military flavor, and throughout the performance the ensemble played with precision and elegance.

Dr. Flummerfelt moved into his element with the Lord Nelson Mass, a work of fire and intensity for chorus, orchestra, and four vocal soloists. Dr. Flummerfelt has trained his chamber-sized Westminster Choir in a percussive sound, with exact choral endings and a vocal sound that never gave out during the extended and dramatic piece. The Kyrie in particular is demanding on the chorus, as well as the soprano soloist.

Soprano Jeanne Ommerle presented a frail visual image, and the solo sections of the Kyrie left the impression that her voice may have been a bit too light for the passion required of the dramatic coloratura. The Gloria suited Ms. Ommerle's voice better, and she had her chance to shine substantially during the Benedictus later in the work.

Tenor the Star

The true vocal solo "star" was tenor Mark Blecke, whose brilliant and focused sound propelled to the back of the auditorium. Mr. Blecke also found substantial drama within the work and strengthened the emotional intensity of the other three soloists.

Mezzo-soprano Laura Brooks Rice was clearly at home in this period of music and provided a solid fourth component to the solo quartet. Ms. Rice had a chance to excel in the Agnus Dei, and with Ms. Ommerle, demonstrated that the two female soloists were especially well-paired. Of the four soloists, baritone Daniel Lichti was the weak vocal link, not having the volume or substance to keep up with the other three, especially in the lower range of the bass register.

Dr. Flummerfelt seemed much more at home in conducting the Mass than the symphony, with his renowned chorus upon which to focus. The Westminster Choir, throughout the performance, demonstrated its trademark uniformity of sound, and had obviously been trained for identical vowel production across all vocal sections. The blocks of sound in the Credo, as well as the unison singing on the more significant texts of the same movement, gave further proof of the ensemble's extensive preparation. A quick transition from the Benedictus to the Hosanna, often troublesome for choruses, was performed effortlessly by this ensemble.

Throughout the Mass, the orchestra played effortlessly, gliding from movement to movement without losing sight of the difficulty of combining orchestra, chorus, and soloists.

Orchestra in Transition

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra has been in a period of transition, having sought and found a new music director in Zdenek Macal, who will share his responsibilities in New Jersey with his conducting duties as Music Director of the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra. The Chamber Series performed in Richardson Auditorium (as well as two other halls in New Jersey) is being used this year to present music of the "Baroque and Beyond."

With the incorporation of the popular Westminster Choir (which does not perform extensively in the Princeton area) and the presentation of two significant but not often heard works, the New Jersey Symphony has maintained its local audience through a period of transition. Although all orchestral music can be perceived as "Baroque and Beyond," the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is using this broad pigeonhole to present music which not only accentuates its own strengths but also draws on local talent.

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra Chamber Series will continue in Princeton on Friday, November 26 with an all-Bach performance featuring conductor/harpsichordist Anthony Newman. This concert will include Bach's Harpsichord Concerto No. 2 in E Major, Suite No. 1 in C Major, Suite No. 4 in D Major, and the Concerto for Flute, Violin, and Harpsichord in A Minor.

istance Program (MAP), that would link volunteers at the management level with needs in social service agencies. The United Way is endeavoring to mobilize volunteers from corporations and other institutions in the greater Mercer area.

Through MAP, volunteers help their community by lending technical assistance and consulting expertise to specific projects of agencies. The focus is on helping human service agencies run more efficiently. In addition to offering consulting/technical services, MAP provides training, disseminates educational materials, conducts research, and aids the sharing of agency resources.

The volunteer management consulting and technical services needed by agencies include: advertising, promotion, and public relations; accounting and bookkeeping; marketing and market research; financial management; facilities management; computer technology and systems; human resources management, planning and organizational development; grant-writing and fund raising; and legal assistance.

The need for volunteer assistance for this program is great. The personal satisfaction to volunteers can also be substantial. Volunteers will be placed through the Greater Mercer Volunteer Center, a community service of United Way. The Center maintains a listing of current volunteer positions at social service agencies and matches individual interests and skills with volunteer positions in the greater Mercer area.

The United Way is encouraging potential volunteers to call Marilyn Cantarella at 734-9302.

Volunteers Are Needed To Make Ornaments

Resident Is Honored By the Eden Institute

Irene Farley of Parkside Drive was recognized at an open house and dedication ceremony for a group home named in her honor.

Farley House in Robbinsville is the sixth group home opened by Eden A.C.R.E.s, a program offering residential services to adolescents and adults with autism and the first that is for women. Eden A.C.R.E.s (A Community Residence Experience) is part of the Eden Family of Services, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to serving the needs of individuals with autism and their families.

Some 50 people gathered to tour the new facility, meet its residents and staff and honor Mrs. Farley, chairman of Eden's board of trustees and a long-time supporter of the organization. Farley House is home to six women with autism.

They are supervised by six staff members who work two rotating shifts of three days on and three days off. The funds to purchase and furnish the facility were acquired through a grant from the New Jersey Division of Developmental Disabilities, as well as through private gifts from Eden donors.

Preparing for the Future With Girl Scout Workshop

Girls and parents can take a lot of the guesswork out of college financial planning and career exploration by attending the "Windows to the Future" event scheduled for Saturday, November 13, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at Stuart Country Day School.

Sponsored by the Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council, the program involves resume writing, interviewing skills, career exploration, visiting an on-site college center, and participating in a variety of hands-on workshops.

For young women interested in law, Joanne Malta, a police officer in Princeton Township, will give a detailed seminar on entering the field of law enforcement. Other speakers will address working as a judge, FBI agent, drug enforcement agent, lawyer, and more.

For those interested in entering the field of architecture, Mary Donlin of Geddes, Brecher, Qualls, Cunningham, and Karen Abrams Hilde, of Michael Graves Architects, will present a hands-on workshop that includes "building your dream house."

Other career workshops include, "Helping and Healing: Counselling and Psychotherapy Careers," "Elaborating on Engineering," "Intro to Fashion Design," "Once You've Sold the World You Can Never Sell Widgets," "Paper, Pencils and PR," "Getting into Your Genes," "Practical Systems Engineering," "Careers in Advertising," "Women and Government," "Accounting for Advancement," and "Noses for News."

Colleges in New Jersey will provide information packets. Adults are invited to attend the seminars, "Raising Your Daughter in the '90s," presented by Ginny Cusak, Princeton Montessori School, and "Financing Your Daughter's College Education," by a financial consultant. Parents will speak with a bank specialist to learn about lending sources, while the financial consultant will address the issue of saving for college. An ROTC recruitment official will address the option of enlistment, while college admissions specialists will speak about scholarships, grants, and tuition-reduction programs.

The cost for the program is $10 and includes all materials, lunch, and workshops. The conference is open to all girls, ages 12 to 17, and parents. A conference T-shirt and patch are available for an additional charge.

For registration materials, call the Delaware-Raritan Girl Scout Council at (908) 821-9090.

A Multicultural Sensitivity Staff Training Program Will Draw on the Skills of Riverside School Teacher

Just being in a school where 16 different languages are spoken is an education in itself. And when that school — Riverside Elementary — is in a district in which students speak more than 40 languages, the opportunities for all children to learn about the larger world are phenomenal.

But diversity can lead to dismay when teachers and other staff are unaware of how a student's own culture can clash with the way things are done in the United States.

This is where Donna Clovis, Riverside School's English as a Second Language teacher, comes in. Her ebullient personality and experience with different cultures are called on every day as she teaches students from abroad. Now her skills are being tapped by the Princeton District as it attempts to provide a good learning experience to minority students and to children from other lands.

Mrs. Clovis will hold two multilingual multicultural staff sensitivity training programs this year, the first scheduled to begin this week. They are funded by the District's State Desegregation Grant, and their goal is to help teachers and support staff to communicate more effectively with students from different cultures.

Multitude of Languages
Although eight percent of the Princeton District's students are Hispanic, there are no Spanish-speaking students in Riverside's ESL program. But there are children who speak Chinese, Japanese, Hindi, Hebrew, Russian, Slovak, Creole, French, German, Quechua (an Indian language from Peru), Turkish, Swedish, Italian, Portuguese, and more.

Donna Clovis

ease up in ways one wishes adults could emulate.

"Just today, in one of my classes, one of the little boys who speaks French sat next to a little boy who speaks Chinese," she said. "The French-speaking boy was trying to speak in Chinese. They'll often try to speak in each others' languages."

In working with these children, Mrs. Clovis has observed a number of areas in which cultural differences might be misunderstood by a teacher or staff member. For example, children from Japan, China, and Korea will not look an adult in the eye, since this is considered an act of disrespect in distance was comfortable for him, but how would you deal with it?"

The answer she found was very simple. Just sit down, and an automatic comfortable distance for Americans will be established.

Something else staff should be aware of is that events in their native land can affect children. There are a number of Russian children, and their performance in class was affected by the upheaval in the Russian government.

Role of the Media
In her training sessions, Mrs. Clovis asks participants to see how minorities are portrayed in the media, since the media provides many values to society.

"They come back and tell me they saw Asians shown either in the computer field or in kung fu, that all pictures showed Hispanics to be very poor and showed African-Americans in a bad light."

The participants found they had to go to National Geographic or to ethnic magazines for positive role models, she said.

Mrs. Clovis is a poet and the recipient of the State poetry award from the New Jersey Institute of Technology for 1993 for her book, Survival Through These Hard Times. Her third book, on the immigrant experience, will be published in December.

Although originally from this area, she, her husband, and their children lived in South Jersey for five years.

"We were so happy to get back," she said, "to have diversity. There was such a lack of understanding of cultures. We had a family move in who was Pakistani. People did not play with the child."

She added that her family did not have problems, but that the community maintained its cold shoulder to other families from abroad who moved into the neighborhood.

Diversity Opens the World
The diversity in Princeton, she feels, "opens the world" to students. "Maybe I would have taken it for granted if I hadn't lived in that other community," she said.

She added, "My son is in middle school, and a lot of the children he's with may not speak English. He comes home, and this is really neat, he tells me that he has spoken Spanish, and he is learning it."

Mrs. Clovis' enthusiasm for teaching and for opening up a wider world to her students was evident when a youngster came in to talk with her after the end of the school day. She smiled, enveloped the child in warmth and encouragement, and set up a time the next day when they could talk. It was a happy fifth grader who walked out the door.

Some of the children within the rainbow of Princeton's diversity are poor, and Mrs. Clovis worries that the system doesn't help people move out of poverty. She and her husband went with one family to help them get food stamps. "They did not qualify because they had a car," she recalls. "But they needed to keep the car to look for a job."

Community Can Help
Mrs. Clovis would like to see more community involvement and outreach to children and families, and said the homework centers funded by the desegregation grant are "a great step in the right direction."

She wants to see a change in the low expectations that teachers and staff sometimes have for African-American and other minority students. "I remember when I was growing up," she said. "I knew I had the intelligence to do what I wanted to do."

But each school year she was unable to gain full acceptance from her teacher for her abilities until her parents, who were highly educated, came in.

As she begins her multicultural sensitivity training session, Mrs. Clovis looks forward to helping participants better understand the difficulties faced by children who are different from the majority, whether by race or culture, and to learn how to ease these children's path through the school system.

"On the first day of school, Mrs. Clovis, like a modern-day Pied Piper, takes her miniature United Nations on a tour of Riverside."

Many of these youngsters do not speak English. Many, but not all, have parents associated with Princeton University. But the number who are not attached to the University has been increasing.

On the first day of school, Mrs. Clovis, like a modern-day Pied Piper, takes her miniature United Nations on a tour of Riverside.

She teaches them a survival vocabulary; shows them how to find the bathroom, main office, and nurse's office; and gives a quick course in how to survive in the cafeteria.

She also starts work on her emergency contact list, which gives the name of every child in the school who can act as an interpreter.

Smiles Follow Confusion

These first days can sometimes echo the confusion of a Tower of Babel, and they often inspire culture shock, tears, and anger.

"But after a while you start to get the smiles," said Mrs. Clovis, who is the mother of three children in the Princeton schools. Then things begin to their countries.

Some adults might be tempted to take a child by the chin and raise his or her head in order to encourage a direct look. This would really disgrace the student, said Mrs. Clovis.

In these same Asian cultures, a pat on the head — something positive for American students — would be considered a negative gesture.

Clothing Cultures

Mrs. Clovis makes the participants in her staff sensitivity sessions aware that sharing a culture doesn't necessarily mean getting along. There can be animosity between students from different Hispanic, Asian, and other countries.

She remembers that once, when she was teaching in another district, a Korean child saw a map of Japan and proceeded to tear it apart. But by the end of the school year, his best friend was a Japanese child.

And she smiles when she recalls the times American students are astonished by the burp of a fellow student. In some Asian countries, she said, it is polite to burp loudly after meals. "The louder you burp the more it shows you enjoyed the meal and the more you enjoyed the hospitality," she said.

Dealing with distances can also be a challenge to staff, since Americans appear to need more space around them than, for example, some Hispanics. "I had a parent several years ago who would talk to me from six inches away," she recalled. "He was lovely, wonderful, and concerned about his children. This

PEOPLE In the News

Kathleen O'Neill Jamieson, Brookstone Drive, director of admission at Princeton Day School since 1988, has been elected to the board of directors of the Secondary School Admission Test Board in Princeton. SSATB is the organization that administers the Secondary School Admission Test nationwide.

Since joining PDS in 1982, Ms. Jamieson has served the school in a variety of roles, including teaching, fund raising, public relations and publications work. She holds a B.A. from the University of Maryland's English Honors program and is pursuing a master's degree at Columbia University.

Kristen Keller, daughter of Carol and Ronald Keller, 526 Lake Drive, a junior at Franklin & Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., will participate in the college's off-campus study program. She will study in Paris, France, through the University of Paris.

Ms. Keller, a French major, is a 1990 graduate of Princeton High School.

Marine Lance Cpl. Michael D. Marano, son of Vincent F. and Ursula M. Marano, 14 Stanford Place, is deploying to Somalia with 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C., as a part of the USS Guadalcanal Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

Cpl. Marano and his fellow Marines are joining other U.S. forces ordered to Somalia in response to recent hostile actions against American and other military personnel there.

The 1990 graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School joined the Marine Corps in September 1990.

Matt DeVeau, Princeton High School and Princeton Post 218 standout outfielder the past three years, has been selected for the 1994 spring varsity baseball team at the University of Scranton in Pennsylvania.

A resident of Cranbury, the 18-year-old DeVeau led the squad of returning veterans and potential new players in batting with a lofty .600 average during the school's fall program. Scranton coach Bill Howerton commented that DeVeau "handled the bat as well as anyone out there this fall and, with his excellent defense and speed, should be an integral part of the program next spring."

Connie Tomeczyk, middle school science teacher at St. Paul School, recently completed the New Jersey Institute of Technology's Environmental Issues in the Classroom Workshop. The program, funded by the National Science Foundation, selected 20 middle and high school teachers from New York and New Jersey to participate. Mrs. Tomeczyk was the only teacher from the central New Jersey area chosen.

The workshop involved three weeks in the classroom at NJIT and three weeks as an "intern" with an industry sponsor.

Mrs. Tomeczyk spent her internship with the Environmental Chemistry Group at American Cyanamid with Dr. Gary Mangels as her mentor. She worked as a lab technician with researchers in the fields of hydrolysis, soil adsorption/desorption and aqueous photolysis. Following the internship, Mrs. Tomeczyk will be able to draw on American Cyanamid as a resource for her St. Paul classes.

Army Cadet Garret E. Morris, son of Alexander E. and Margaret D. Morris, 23 Armour Road, has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC Camp Challenge, Fort Knox, Ky.

Camp Challenge is designed to give college juniors and sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program.

The cadet is a student at Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., and a 1991 graduate of Princeton High School.

This year's Junior Achievement Business Hall of Fame laureates are Dr. Thomas J. McKearn, Dwight C. Minton and Dr. George A. Pruitt. They will be inducted on November 6 at the Hyatt Regency Princeton.

Dr. McKearn, president of Cytogen Corporation, was a founder of Cytogen and served as its first vice president of Research and Development in 1981. In 1990, he was promoted to executive vice president, and in September, 1991, was appointed president.

Mr. Minton, of Princeton, is chairman and chief executive officer of Church & Dwight Co., Inc., manufacturers of Arm & Hammer brand consumer and specialty products. Mr. Minton represented the fifth generation of the Church family in the business when he joined Church & Dwight in June, 1961. In 1969 he was appointed chief executive officer, and he assumed the chairmanship in 1981.

Dr. Pruitt is president of Thomas Edison State College, a national leader in adult higher education. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Illinois State University, and his Ph.D. in higher education administration from the Graduate School of The Union Institute.

For information on this event, call Junior Achievement of Central New Jersey at 987-0058.

Army Reserve Cadet Hugh N. Dyer IV, son of Hugh N. and Kathleen J. Dyer, One Bunker Drive, Belle Mead, has received practical work in military leadership at the ROTC advanced camp at Fort Bragg, Fayetteville, N.C.

A 1990 graduate of Montgomery High School, he is a student at Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, N.C.

Marine Pfc. Gregory J. Keller, son of John A. and Donna H. Keller, 118 Staats Farm Road, Belle Mead, recently completed recruit training.

He is a 1992 graduate of Alma Preparatory School, Zarephath.

Cholderton Yeoman, a 24-year old Cleveland Bay stallion owned by William Dorman of Province Line Road won the Sire and Get class with four of his offspring at the prestigious Devon, Pa., Horseshow. Mr. Dorman received the Joanna Dorman Memorial Trophy, named for his late wife, who brought the horse to the United States in 1976 with the idea of promoting the breed in this country.

Bred as coach and carriage horses in England, Cleveland Bays combine the strength of a work horse with the conformation of a thoroughbred.

Sara "Tink" Bolster, Governor's Lane, completed the 1993 triathlon season with five victories in her age group in the five competitions she entered.

Theodore L. Cross, Carter Road, is the editor and publisher of a new publication called The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education. As the frontispiece puts it, the journal is "Dedicated to the conscientious investigation of the status and prospects for African Americans in higher education." It is published in New York City.

In an introduction entitled "Why The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education?" Mr. Cross cites the "striking new importance of higher education in the lives of black Americans" as the major reason for introducing the new publication. "As never before, African Americans now need a lot of new information about the governance, policies and practices in our colleges and universities," he writes.

The inaugural Autumn 1993 issue of 120 pages contains articles on topics such as "Why the Shortage of Black Professors?" with the views of nearly a dozen educators; "Reflections on Black Separatism at American Colleges," by Peter R. Pouncey, president of Amherst College; a discussion of Harvard Law School's "War Over Faculty Diversity," by Matthew S. Bromberg; "White Professors at Black Colleges by Robert Bruce Slater, managing editor of the new journal, and "Computers on Campus: The Black-White Technology Gap," by Tereze Kreuzer.

Mr. Cross himself contributes an article on "Scapegoating Blacks for Grade Inflation" and another on "The Myth that Preferential College Admissions Create High Black Student Dropout Rates." The journal contains an interview with former Congressman William H. Gray III, now president of the United Negro College Fund, on "The Superiority of Black College." There is also an interview with Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley and a listing with photographs of federal government officials with jurisdiction over issues affecting blacks in higher education.

Scholarly papers published by blacks and academic awards to blacks are listed as well as fellowship awards and notable appointments, tenure decisions and promotions. The journal includes reviews of books such as Cornel West's Race Matters and a listing of books black students are reading, ranked according to volume of sales.

Dr. Edward Laub of Lawrenceville, an internal medicine specialist, has been appointed the chief of internal medicine at Helene Fuld Medical Center. He joined Helene Fuld in 1979.

Dr. Laub received his undergraduate degree from York College and his medical degree from the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry at Newark. He completed his residency training and internships in internal medicine at Erie County Medical Center, Buffalo General Hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital, all in New York.

Jennifer Jones, daughter of Melvin and Patricia Jones, 1207 Windsor Road, Princeton Junction, a graduate of Stuart Country Day School, and Matthew Shaffer, son of Stephen and Karen Shaffer, 11 Blue Spruce Drive, Pennington, a graduate of Princeton Day School, have enrolled as members of the class of 1997 at Dartmouth College.

spear, and the next day she joined the group as a tutor in science and math.

All this took place in the summer and fall of 1991, and since then, the program has grown to include 60 students and 25 tutors. Ms. Bennett has become a partner, and on any given day, 20 to 30 students and seven or eight tutors fill up the seats in the Children's Room.

Originally known as the Latin American Mentoring Project (LAMP), the program was recently renamed Springboard, as the student group became more diverse.

"Anyone who attends Princeton Regional schools can come here for help, and we'll do our best to match them up with a tutor," says Mrs. Spear, who tutors in English and history. "The majority are from the middle school, but we also have high school students."

Some students come every day, others a few times a week. They often seek help in all their courses, or sometimes guidance for a specific project. The needs vary, as the students vary. Some come to the program at their teachers' suggestions. In other cases, one friend tells another. Still other students are intrigued by what they see in the library and ask to join.

Help in Many Subjects

Help is given in a range of subjects, such as English, history, science, and math, and the tutors include Princeton University students, high school students, and adults from the community. Tutors and students sit together, four or more to a table, in a friendly, informal, yet structured atmosphere.

As Mrs. Spear notes, "Assignments are completed, books read and discussed, and problems solved. And, between us, Betsy and I have

"Also, this is a good example of a successful Town with the idea of doing home-Gown relationship," points out work projects in the library Ms. Bennett. "There are where all the research facilities and resources are readily versity, and they have been available. In addition, it is very close to the community great."

Adds Mrs. Spear, "I want that needs help the most — to make a pitch for volunteer the Central American families. We always need more lies who are not quite comfortable with English yet." The community adults are so important — for one thing, Mrs. Spear and Ms. Bennett don't all go on vacation together are tireless in their efforts at the same time, as do the efforts to see that the students University students," she have all the help they need. laughs, referring to the re Through a Desegregation Grant cent fall break at Princeton from the Princeton Regional University. "Also, it's a School system, which sup-chance for people in the com-ports Springboard, they have munity to establish a long been able to furnish supplies, term standing relationship such as paper, pencils, poster board, and glue, make photo copies, and acquire a laptop computer for the students.

Princeton resident Gloria Borden, who tutors in science and English, agrees. "This

They regularly visit teachers at the John Witherspoon School to obtain homework assignments, discuss progress, and they also have copies of all the text books.

"Betsy goes home and does all the algebra problems," says Mrs. Spear, with a smile, "and I want to emphasize that she has never missed a day here, except when her grandchild was born. That continuity, that we are always here, is important. The kids know we will be here. Today we're getting ready to talk about I Remember Mama and Pudd'nhead Wilson, as well as deal with American history, civics, seventh grade geology, eighth grade science — which currently is the workings of machines — and of course, algebra.

"You know," she continues, "the model for this is really the family table. The way the kids used to sit around the kitchen table with Mom and Dad and brothers and sisters. We're an extended family here. This family has Princeton University students as big brothers and sisters."

"We also have a good interaction with the teachers," points out Ms. Bennett. "They are receptive to the program. They see better performances in class and better grades on tests."

Parents, too, have been pleased with their children's increased motivation and achievement. One mother came to the library to tell the tutors of her pride in her son. He had received the first passing grade he had ever gotten.

That can go a long way in building self-esteem and further motivation.

sign of success. "After you've worked with them for a while, sometimes they don't come, and then you realize they are able to work independently. They don't need us anymore! Of course, we miss them, but we are proud of them."

The students have also enjoyed occasional outings organized for them by Mrs. Spear and Ms. Bennett. "On one field trip, we went to look at Princeton rock formations," says Ms. Bennett, who has a Masters Degree in geology from Rutgers University.

Writing Workshops

In addition to the regular tutoring sessions, Springboard students have been able to participate in a series of writing workshops supported by a grant from the Princeton Youth Fund. Guided by Riverside School teacher Donna Clovis, who also conducts similar programs throughout the state, the children are encouraged to express their thoughts and emotions in poetry and prose. As evidence of the workshop's success, several students have had poems published in Chimera, a magazine devoted to the writings of young people.

The level of student enthusiasm for Springboard is very strong, indicated by their increasing numbers and steady attendance. Princeton High School junior Daniel Enriquez joined the program last year, and he never misses a day. "Betsy helps me with science and helps me to understand," he reports.

NEED AN EARLY COPY of TOWN TOPICS? You can buy one at our office, 4 Mercer Street, or at Princeton newsstands Wednesday mornings after 9 a.m.

"It has really made a difference."

Another student who comes every day is Tiana Miller, in eighth grade at John Witherspoon School. "They sit down and explain things. I work on all my subjects here," she says. "Also, there are younger people coming from the University to help us. We work on reports, and they help me find the best topics in the magazines and newspapers for the reports."

All the students appreciate the benefits of working in the library, adds Mrs. Spear.

"They really enjoy the library setting. This library is very welcoming and warm. The only problem is that it's not big enough. We are limited by the number of seats here. It's 40 tops — for tutors and kids."

Dudley Carlson, Manager of Youth Services at the library, agrees: "There is just not enough room. Sometimes we have to turn kids away. We feel very positive about this program. It's done a lot to extend the library's reach. There were lots of kids we weren't able to help. We can't sit down and spend 20 minutes with one child. Many kids come in with book bags and homework, and they need someone who can hold their attention and help them get started."

"It isn't without its chaotic moments and noise," she smiles, "but the amount of good outweighs any problems. We appreciate the indulgence of the adult users of the library during these after-school hours."

Self-Discovery Program

"The tutors in this program are like friends or a parent or teacher," she continues. "They help the child realize he or she can do it. They are helping them discover what they are able to do, how to find out what they don't know, and how to approach a subject. It's a self-discovery program. It is really an exciting process to watch, and I am in awe of the amount of energy and care that Laura and Betsy have put into this."

Springboard's achievements have also not gone unnoticed by others in the community. Because of her dedication and service, Mrs. Spear was one of the recipients of the Princeton YWCA's Women Who Make a Difference Award this year.

"Everybody should have a right to have a place to do assignments and get help when they need it," she comments. "The benefit is that it is there for those who want it. We have found that kids who didn't do their homework or didn't have good grades are actually bright and intelligent kids. They just need help getting started. We are here for them, to answer questions and help out, but they do it themselves."

"And it's stimulating and fun," she continues. "These are bright, wonderful, fun kids. No matter how tired I might be, it's always an 'up', always stimulating to come here. There is no shortage of interesting conversation!"

"Also," adds Mrs. Bennett, "every day is different. You never know what will happen. It is challenging, and we look forward to it."

Local Auto Entrepreneur Was a Unique Individual

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Harold Williams was behind the wheel of his father's brand new Buick Century in the late 1970s. After dropping his parents off at the airport, he ran into a highway divider strip at approximately 90 miles an hour and peeled the doors and fender from the car. For any other driver — or any other son — such an accident would be catastrophic. For Harold, it was just another minor repair. Ten days later, his father thanked him at the airport for having had the car washed and waxed.

Mr. Williams is a true son of a generation that gonzo writer Hunter S. Thompson challenged to "Drive fast; take chances." As a local entrepreneur in the field of automotive restoration, there has not been a time since the 1960s that Harold Williams' life has not been intimately linked to the maintenance, repair or restoration of high-performance vehicles.

Late in the evening of October 21, Harold M. Williams died suddenly at the age of 50 following an accident at his home.

Surveying any one of the more than 200 mourners at his funeral on October 25, you would have heard him described as charismatic, friendly and always polite to every customer. His work day rarely ended after eight hours. His exacting nature demanded the best from those he worked with as well as from his friends, but he asked no more of anyone else than he would ask of himself.

Born in Washington, D.C., in 1943, his family moved to West Windsor in 1958. A 1962 graduate of Princeton High School, Mr. Williams vowed he would never work for anyone and he would always be his own boss.

Through the Reedman dealership in Langhorne, Pa., he was able to attend General Motors Technical School after graduation, where he studied auto body refinishing and painting, with a specialization in Corvette repair and restoration.

By 1967, he had opened his own body shop in Princeton as a sub-contractor to Eldridge Buick. By 1975, he had built a high-technology facility, Body Shop by Harold Williams, which still stands on Route 206 in Princeton Township. His shop was lauded in Dupont Refinisher trade magazine as a state-of-the-art auto paint facility. His shop was continually updated and remains one of the few facilities of this caliber in the area.

Mr. Williams was also a national figure as a custom car builder. By 1971, he had built the top nationally-rated custom Corvette under National Custom Car Association (NCCA) guidelines and had won first place in the New York Custom Car Show. For the following year, his car was featured in the NCCA competition circuit across the country.

His hobbies mirrored his professional pursuits. Mr. Williams was also a national authority on Buddy-L pressed steel toy trucks and pedal cars. His collections of these early 20th-century toys have been used as source material and illustrations for national publications cataloguing this part of American history. His collection includes every model of Buddy-L truck ever produced as well as a large number of pedal cars and rare, full-size bicycles. In addition, he professionally restored similar toys for other collectors across the country.

His other interests included the restoration of Victorian houses. His home in Harlingen is a part of the Historic House tour and he maintained a Victorian property in Cape May.

Mr. Williams was systematic and goal-oriented in his approach to work as well as his personal life. His collection of cars ran the gamut from an 18-inch pressed steel toy truck to a 500-cubic inch, chrome-plated, Cadillac-powered custom Corvette. He drove and fixed them all; from Auburn and Avanti to Jaguar and Mercedes to street rods.

As the line of cars ranging from Corvette to Mercedes rounded a curve on Harlingen Road to pass by his home one last time on the way to the cemetery, the high speed of the procession was one more reminder that Harold, somehow, was still driving.

The Historical Society Appreciates Fine Support

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now that we have reopened Bainbridge House after two years of restoration, we would like to express our deep appreciation to the individuals, businesses, corporations, foundations and organizations who have supported the 50th Anniversary campaign and provided in-kind contributions which have made our undertaking possible.

More than 300 sources have contributed financial support to the campaign. While these are too numerous to acknowledge here, we would like to recognize the businesses and institutions which have donated services, since these often go unrecognized.

Princeton Wetlands Oversight Alliance Calls For Referendum on Church & Dwight Expansion

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Church & Dwight, a chemical and allied product company in Princeton, seeks to double the size of their local operation. Not only will they clear acres of trees and foliage and destroy habitats and nesting grounds; not only will they develop new chemical products within feet of Princeton freshwater resources — the waste is disposed through sewer systems paid for by Princeton Township taxes; they will add scores of automobiles and heavy trucks to our congested roadways — paid for and maintained by our local taxes.

More than 80 families have joined the Wetlands Oversight Alliance fight to stop Church & Dwight from destroying our environment and spending our tax dollars. The Township Planning Board approved the project but we say — "So what?" I read an article in the New York Times today about a small town in Massachusetts. They protested a new Wal-Mart store being built. Their township had already approved the plan but they said "So what?" They called for a referendum vote and defeated the project.

The Princeton Township Planning Board approved Church & Dwight's destruction plan (ERR - expansion plan) without considering the opinion of local residents. Church & Dwight presented the plan to clear acres of Wetland area landscape without considering the opinions of local consumers (residents). The Wetlands Oversight Alliance gathered a consensus and it is an overwhelming "No way," "Not here" and "Not ever."

Like the small town in Massachusetts, we are calling for a referendum vote. If our legislators will not carry out the will of their constituents then we will go above their heads — straight to the people (a.k.a. residents, taxpayers, voters, consumers). Please call, write and visit the Township office this week.

We are grateful to Palmer Square Ltd. and Jerry Berner for offering office space at reduced rent during the restoration; to Seeley G. Mudd Library at the University for collections storage space; to Princeton University, Princeton Bank & Trust Co. and the Nassau Presbyterian Church for offering space for lectures and meetings; to Morris Maple & Sons for donating paint for Bainbridge House; and to McCaffrey's Supermarket and Wadsworth Gourmet Bakery for contributing food, and to Occasions for donating flowers for the opening reception.

Without the generous assistance offered by the community the Historical Society would not have been able to realize our goal of accomplishing high quality restoration and providing a first-rate museum and library facility.

We invite all of you who have not visited us recently to come and see us. We hope our efforts will provide, in turn, a measure of delight, satisfaction and service to the community.

Volunteers Are Thanked For Benefit Efforts

To the Editor of Town Topics:

If you've ever volunteered to help with a fund-raising event, you know that the time you anticipated giving winds up multiplied by ten. As co-chairmen of the 1993 Art, Antiques and Rummage Sale, we'd like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who donated their time and expertise to this annual event sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton.

It takes months of preparation on the part of a great many volunteers to put together this two-day event, plus countless hours of sorting, tagging, pricing, readying, displaying, and selling the things donated for sale. For this we are indebted to the area chairmen and their volunteers, and to steering committee members for their guidance.

Many thanks go to Jane Kerney, her staff, and all staff members from the Medical Center who lent brains and brawn to our endeavor. The local newspapers and radio stations provided invaluable coverage — we recognize and appreciate your help. Thanks too to Ben Yedlin of Yedlin Associates for the use of his facilities and for his understanding.

As you know, all proceeds from the sale benefit the Medical Center at Princeton, and this year's receipts go toward fulfilling the Auxiliary's pledge to the Capital Campaign to build a new Princeton Hospital.

We thank each of you who participated, not only for making the rummage sale successful, but most of all, for making it possible.

We also want to thank the hundreds of local residents who turned out to insure the success of our event through their purchases.

WHO KNOWS what's going on in Princeton? People who read TOWN TOPICS of course

Landscaper Has Ideas To Improve Quarry Park

To the Editor of Town Topics: Recently I met with a landscape architect at Quarry Park. She was most enthusiastic about the possibilities of improving those five acres. She was impressed with the beautiful stone wall on Spruce Street as well as the recently built bluestone retaining wall at the back of the green.

She noticed the flourishing yews, the nice trees, the interesting contours as well as, to quote her, an area free from the ravages of deer. She offered many suggestions for viable changes that are feasible and some within the reach of a modest budget.

Her first suggestion was to put a barrier across the wide roadway from the entrance gate to the top of the park. From experience she said that such an access road would inevitably invite random dumping. Next she wanted to cut down the trash trees and make a shady attractive corridor on the south boundary and at the same time, plant a screen of evergreens to give privacy to the residents of Spruce Lane.

Another idea was to continue the ornamental trees to line the path from the senior housing complex over to Spruce Street. What I call "de Grazia Hill," she felt could be extended down to the circle and planted with ornamental grasses and low-maintenance material, thereby also delineating the children's playground.

By moving the upper set of swings down, a level place left would be appropriate for a half-basketball court, if indeed such a compromise could be reached. She was very positive about creating a secluded picnic ground at the very back of the park, away from any other activity. Behind the new bluestone wall, she recommended a cover of ivy, mountain laurel and perhaps daffodils for spring.

What an opportunity for the most densely populated section of Princeton to have a park for all ages within walking distance of all the tree streets, Hamilton and Harrison!

This town is full of civic-minded organizations and people who could be persuaded to take on some of these innovations. (One local garden club is already engaged in a beautification project in Spruce Circle. Our landscaper was amazed at how many of those seniors were walking along the paths.) Quarry Park up until now has been a kind of Sleeping Beauty. I say, let's get her awake by acting on the above suggestions.

Not one of these ideas would be worth the doing if the four members of Borough Council continue to hold out for a full-blacktop-three-basket-court built in the heart of the park. Would the one, two, or four little children mentioned by Ray Wadsworth not be better served by a half court, such as the one on Hamilton Street it is replacing?

This point has been made ad infinitum but I repeat it here. Children who can't cross streets don't need a full court. Older ages can easily go to the half dozen other full basketball

Court Urged to Remove Urken's Sidewalk Display

To the Editor of Town Topics: This letter, which concerns Princeton Borough's attempt in court on June 28, 1993 to prohibit Irv Urken from displaying his Weber grills (and other merchandise) in front of his store on Witherspoon Street, has been sent to The Honorable Samuel L. Sachs of the East Windsor Municipal Court.

I respectfully offer this letter as I understand that, after several months, you may be close to a decision in the above-entitled action.

I have just returned from the Urken front entrance area, which at one point has a cluster of grills with others extending along the building front, a metal ladder, and other store merchandise — all effectively narrowing the sidewalk area for proper and comfortable pedestrian passage on an already narrow Witherspoon Street sidewalk (which is not the very wide Nassau Street sidewalk).

I walked off approximately 11 feet from the building front to the street curb; where the outdoor merchandise display stands opposite an open, unpaved, dirt area surrounding a tree at the curb, there is only a four-foot clearance for pedestrian passage along the sidewalk — barely enough for two persons walking side by side.

You should also know that not long ago an elderly woman nearly caught a leg on the base of a giant ladder that stood with wall-to-wall grills and an accumulation of large cartons, full and empty, which often stand for hours near the curb, opposite the merchandise display.

This, Your Honor, is the issue of this case: not "commercial speech," aesthetics, Weber grills versus plants, books, and newspapers, "grandfather clauses," or new and old ordinances.

Borough Prosecutor Marc Citron (who, when I urged him in two telephone calls to photograph the daily display for the Court, strangely urged me to do so) is on the mark when, reportedly, he states that the Witherspoon Street sidewalk is "a busy right of way" and "is crowded." Borough Zoning Officer Frank Slimak also is correct in his referral to "the public right of way."

I do not believe Princeton Borough should permit any outdoor display of store merchandise where there is the public right of way. The store or shop is where merchandise belongs.

I respectfully urge the Court to remove Mr. Urken's merchandise from the Witherspoon Street sidewalk.

We Must Teach Children To Respect Rights of All

To the Editor of Town Topics: As president of the Princeton Area Chapter of the National Organization for Women, I am writing with regard to the extended coverage of the harassment incident involving Cheryl Hunt at Princeton High School at the end of the last school year and the climate of sexual harassment that teachers did little to inhibit.

NOW applauds Ms. Hunt's courage and urges educators and parents to take a hard look at the treatment of young women in our schools.

Ms. Hunt's brave disclosure of physical and verbal abuse at Princeton High is part of an ongoing national revelation that our schools are often hostile environments for young women. As has been widely reported, a recent study published by the American Association of University Women Education Fund shows that the vast majority of high school students — and 85 percent of the female students — have experienced sexual harassment at school.

Princeton High, and other area schools, should take advantage of the opportunity presented by Cheryl Hunt's refusal to accept being mistreated.

Over the summer, representatives of NOW have been conferring with members of the school district administration and board, whose efforts to take constructive steps to develop a policy on sexual harassment are encouraging. The schools must begin an intensive program to educate teachers and administrators about the nature, impact, and prevention of sexual harassment, as well as other types of abusive behavior.

We must teach our children, as a regular part of the curriculum, that respecting the rights of others is a fundamental tenet of our society and that nothing less will be accepted from them. If we fail to demand that our schools become safe, nurturing places for all students, we will never build an equitable and just society.

News of Clubs and Organizations

The Woman's Club of Princeton will hold its Holiday Boutique and Tea on Thursday, November 18, at All Saints' Church, beginning at noon.

On sale will be treasures and tree trimmings; craft and gift items; and homemade breads, cakes, and cookies. All are welcome. All profits will be donated to charity. For more information, call 924-2824.

What to expect in local, national and international air transportation will be the subject of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon meeting on Thursday at Scanticon.

During the past 35 years, the speaker, Seth E. Schofield, president and CEO of USAir, has played a key role in promoting the steady growth of what was once a regional northeast airline operation, Allegheny. It is now one of the top five airlines of the nation, with routes spanning North America and reaching to Europe.

Most recently, Mr. Schofield has guided USAir into a cooperative relationship with British Airways, expanding its service capabilities through the world and strengthening its financial base.

Mr. Schofield's presentation will follow a reception and lunch beginning at 11:30 a.m. Reservations must be made through the Chamber, 520-1776. Cost to chamber members is $17; guests, $25.

The Griggstown Volunteer Fire Company will hold an "all you can eat" roast pork dinner on Saturday, November 13, at the firehouse on Canal Road. Serving hours will be from 5 to 8 p.m. Admission is $10. Children under 10 will be admitted for $3.

The annual Christmas Bazaar of the Order of the Eastern Star will be held Saturday, November 13, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at The Hopewell Masonic Temple, Broad Street.

Several lighted evergreen trees will be adorned with handcrafted ornaments and there will be an abundance of pillows, wreaths, afghans, woodcrafts, toys ceramics, and Christmas collectibles.

At its Wednesday, November 10 meeting, the Princeton PC Users Group's guest speaker will be Nick Stam of PC Magazine, who will discuss his publication's product testing activities.

The group will meet at 7 p.m. in the main building of the Educational Testing Service at the corner of Rosedale and Carter Roads. Parking and entrance are at the rear of the building.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton Elks will hold a "Best of the West" country western dance Saturday, November 13 at the Elks Lodge, Route 518, Blawenburg.

There will be a buffet from 7 to 8 p.m. and dancing to Eagle Creek from 8 to midnight. Donation is $15 per person, with a cash bar.

For tickets or more information call 921-6564 or 924-8638.

The Princeton Society of the Archaeological Institute of America will meet Wednesday, November 10 at 8 p.m. at the Institute for Advanced Study's Wolfensohn Hall.

Michael Padgett, associate curator of ancient art at the Princeton University Art Museum, will give an illustrated lecture entitled, "Pots, Purses, and Spinning Hetairai." He will focus on 6th- and 5th-century B.C. Athenian vase paintings whose scenes seem to involve commercial exchange of one sort or another.

The lecture is free and the public is invited.

The fall meeting of The Professional Roster will be held in the University Lounge at 171 Broadmead, on Monday, November 15, at 8 p.m. The topic will be "Retooling for the Nineties," and three speakers will address their remarks to this subject.

P.J. Dempsey, a social worker and human resources consultant, is the founder of Morgan Mercedes Human Resources Group. She will discuss who might be hiring now, what skills are in demand, and what kinds of retraining might be feasible in today's tough job market.

Denise Higgins, who has had ten years of career management experience and was the first paid female legislative agent for the state of New Jersey, will discuss how to use one's strengths to best advantage in the job market and the importance of having a personal mission statement. She is a partner in Transition Management Associates.

Judy Camisa, owner of Learn Perfect Computer Training, which specializes in relieving computer anxiety and developing specific software competency in mature workers, is a New Jersey certified business teacher with extensive experience in training students in a variety of software packages. Ms. Camisa also teaches at Mercer County Community College, where she helps coordinate its computer training program. She will speak on how to go about becoming computer literate — a skill that is universally acknowledged to be a prerequisite for almost any kind of employment in the nineties.

A question-and-answer period will follow the talks. Refreshments will be served.

The Princeton Music Club will meet Wednesday, November 10, at 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis.

Mr. Ellis will perform piano compositions by Rachmaninoff and Schumann-Liszt. Soprano Marcia Wood and pianist Shirley Batchelor will be heard in songs of Fanny Mendelssohn and Clara Schumann. Several contemporary works will be featured.

Seven Gibran Vignettes (1993) will be read by Fadlou

Shehadi and then performed for solo flute by James Scott; Virtuoso Alice by David del Tredici and Down by the Riverside (1979) by Frederic Rzewski will be played by Chie Sato Rodin.

For membership information call 452-7487.

Princeton Recorder Society will meet Tuesday at 8 at Kingston Presbyterian Church to play an evening of music entitled "Byrd Fanciers' Delight" conducted by Orum Stringer.

Dr. Stringer studied baroque recorder and has mastered Renaissance cornetto and kortholt. He also sings with the Bryn Mawr Haverford Renaissance choir under the direction of Edward Handy. After performing extensively in a number of wind ensembles he founded and currently directs Spectra Musica, a period instrument's performing ensemble.

The public is invited. The Princeton Recorder Society is a chapter of the American Recorder Society. For additional information call Chapter President Deborah Robbins at 683-1110.

ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH with Sam deTuro IT'S TOO BIG

The solution for overcrowded, mature gardens is not to whack back everything in an attempt to make them small again, but to begin maintaining your garden when the trees and shrubbery are still in decent condition

A well-planned garden will only need serious renovation every 12 to 15 years. The idea is not to halt growth, but to manage it as it continues to grow and change. In any plant situation there are three possible solutions — prune it, move it, or remove it. We at WOODWINDS suggest you under use the last two

When pruning, match the pruning techniques to the plant habit. For tree-like plants, consider how it will look if you thin it out. Will it look spindly or sucker-back terribly? Can you arborize the shrub and make it look like a small tree? Trees are most often thinned out to make them less oppressive.

Mounding-habit shrubs are easiest to make smaller and keep down. Creeping types often need to be dug up and have their root systems cut back. Needled evergreens and conifers are the most difficult to modify with pruning. Usually most do not readily break bud and green back up if you cut into the "dead zone." Pines can be thinned dramatically

When in doubt about the correct way to prune those overgrown trees and shrubs, call us at WOODWINDS (924-3500). We're the premiere tree and landscape concern in the area

Reviewer Can't Help Calling Anna Deavere Smith Play "Remarkable"

At the request of Anna Deavere Smith, author and sole performer of "TWILIGHT: Los Angeles, 1992," the McCarter Theatre management asked theater critics, including the undersigned, not to review last week's opening of Ms. Smith's Broadway-bound play because "it is a work-in-progress on which significant work remains to be done."

The Editor and Publisher of TOWN TOPICS — wisely, we thought — declined that disinvitation on the ground that this opening was too significant a local news event to go uncovered.

He accepted your reviewer's suggested compromise: that we serve our readers, and at the same time show our respect for one of the region's and the nation's major cultural assets, by reporting but not reviewing, or assessing, Ms. Smith's work.

This plan lasted about five minutes into "TWILIGHT"

News of the THEATRES

when it became clear to your reviewer that this was one of the most remarkable demonstrations of talent (both writing and acting) and courage (of which more later) we had ever witnessed in a pretty long lifetime of theatergoing — and that we would be unable to resist saying so.

With apologies, then, to Ms. Smith, the McCarter, and the boss — and a re-reminder that this is a work-in-progress:

TWILIGHT takes place on an attractively but plainly set stage (by Robert Brill) with only essential tables and chairs, and a large screen on the rear wall on which will be projected at various times the filmed beating of black Rodney King by white Los Angeles police and the near-murder of white truck driver Reginald Denny by black rioters after the King-beaters were let off by a local jury.

On screens high up at left and right of the stage, the persons being portrayed by Ms. Smith are identified.

We had thought we might never again have to see those beating films, but they do take on new meaning as accompaniments to Ms. Smith's incredibly persuasive portrayals of characters involved in the 1992 riot and in the general atmosphere of the economically deprived section of contemporary Los Angeles that spawned it.

What Ms. Smith gives us are not "interviews" with these people but monologues based on interviews — and in some cases on speeches in courtrooms and elsewhere. With very minor, instantaneous changes of costumes (by Candice Donnelly) she takes us into the hearts and minds of 20-some participants in the riot and in events leading up to and away from it, starting with a seemingly unrelated account by Rodney King's Aunt Agatha of a King family fishing expedition when young Rodney caught a trout in his bare hands.

"HERE'S A NOBODY": Anna Deavere Smith appears as Rodney King's aunt Angela, the first of 21 characters she portrays in the McCarter Theatre production of "TWILIGHT: Los Angeles, 1992."

Each a Small Gem

Actually it is related in suggesting Rodney was once a nice gentle kid. And like each of the monologues in Ms. Smith's play, it is a small gem in itself.

It is never suggested that some brutal cops might once have been nice kids, too, before they became cops; and then, under great pressure, tough cops; and finally, some of them, brutal cops.

We were too mesmerized by Ms. Smith to be disturbed, at the time, by her uneven-handedness as a journalist, but we did wonder, afterward, if her message might have been more potent if it had been less simplistic; if she had at least hinted that the troubles in American inner-cities are deeper and broader than simply bad cops. A hard call. Drama loves villains.

An outsider never knows how much a director contributes to a production but it seems likely the director in this case, McCarter's Artistic Director Emily Mann, deserves some credit for the restraint and subtlety of Ms. Smith's characterizations.

A wise actor defined acting as "being yourself, commenting on the character." Ms. Smith is never not herself, and yet she "comments" so persuasively we came away feeling we know her people.

With a slight costume change the usually barefoot star goes from Aunt Agatha to an ironic portrayal of one Sergeant Duke of the LAPD testifying with academic detachment — at both King trials, local and federal — on the proper use of batons in subduing suspects.

Next, an elderly Mexican sculptor appealingly recounts his and his son's demeaning experiences with L.A. law.

Theatres

Ms. Smith offers some ethnic balance with her touching portrayal of a Korean woman whose liquor store was burned by rioters, and of the president of the Korean American Victims Association, and of a pregnant woman who, shot during the riot, gave birth to a daughter with a bullet in her elbow.

If Ms. Smith's play — and it can be called a play since its short episodes not only hold together but build audience attention and interest — lacks political balance, it offers great variety of tone.

Funny and Serious

It manages to be very funny at times without ever losing its underlying seriousness as it gives us, close up, Reginald Denny, and riot-time L.A. police chief Daryl F. Gates, and a palette of L.A. citizens who made no headlines but who have colorful observations to make about life before, during, and after the riot.

The next-to-last character we meet in an intermissionless evening is a wonderful, illuminating, multi-character comedy in herself. "Maria, Juror No. 7" in the federal trial of Mr. King's case, provides, through Ms. Smith's amazing talent, a hilarious, harrowing, true-ringing account of what that jury went through before reaching a verdict, and by implication what all such juries probably go through.

And finally, Ms. Smith is a young black man nicknamed "Twilight" who has tried to promote peace between L.A. gangs, and who offers a somewhat hopeful ending note, as well as the title, for this entertaining, not-to-be-missed work whose clear implication is that until new action is taken to help inner-city blacks improve their lives, many will come to hate whites, especially the white cops assigned to them; and that, absent such action, more riots are expectable.

She does not give us a character who shows any insight into what that action might be; but maybe that's asking too much of a play still "in progress."

About Ms. Smith's courage:

A major thrill of this thrilling evening is to see a slight young woman, armed only with her talent and her courage, confront a potentially hostile audience (all audiences are potentially hostile, especially those threatened with enlightenment) and, like a trainer in a cage of hungry tigers, get them not only under her spell but, most of them, jumping through hoops on their way to a clearer understanding of her people.

Insofar as she can take predominantly white, fairly well-heeled, possibly influential audiences into a world most are unlikely to enter otherwise, and expose them intimately to people they would probably not get to know otherwise, she is contributing to the possible ultimate solution, or at least amelioration, of an explosive social situation.

Thank you, Ms. Smith. And thank you, Ms. Mann, for giving her a hand and for bringing her stunning performance to Princeton.

—William McCleery

'The Misanthrope' Staged By PU Theatre Program

"The friend of mankind is no friend of mine!" So declares the disgusted hero of Moliere's classic comedy, The Misanthrope. This satiric look at the witty and the witless of a Parisian salon is being presented by Princeton University's Program in Theater and Dance November 11 to 14 and 18 to 20.

All performances are at 8 p.m. except for the performance on Sunday, November 14, which is a 2 p.m. matinee. The Sunday performance will be followed by a discussion with Tim Vassen, the director, and his cast. Tickets are $6 for students, $8 for everyone else.

Moliere's comic investigation of one corner of "civilized society" finds it crawling with human cockroaches — hypocrites, flirts, bores and sycophants — all masquerading under the mask of elegance. Only one man dares to expose their falsity: Alceste, the misanthrope of the title, nobly refuses to follow the rules of the game.

But why has this man, who so rigorously condemns the artificiality of his society, fallen in love with the city's most infamous coquette? And how can he live with the consequences?

According to director Tim Vassen, a recent graduate of the Yale School of Drama, "The Misanthrope takes place in a world where everything one says and does is judged as a performance. All human behavior has been reduced to the status of a fashion statement." Taking their cues from the witty elegance of Richard Wilbur's verse translation of the play, designers Michael Vaughn Sims and Geoff Korf have created an atmosphere of baroque sophistication to suggest a society where all that glitters is not gold.

"A Little Night Music" By University Players

Princeton University Players will begin its 1993-94 season with a production of Stephen Sondheim's A Little Night Music.

The show will open Thursday, November 11, at 8 in the Forbes College Theater and run through Sunday, November 14, at 8, and again November 18 to 21 at 8 each evening. In addition there will be matinee performances on November 14, 20 and 21 at 2.

Princeton University Players and all PUP productions are entirely run by students. A Little Night Music is directed by J. B. Jasiunas, a junior at the University and president of the organization. He brings directing experience from high school and community theater. Mr. Jasiunas' work on campus has included directing Camelot, producing A Chorus Line, and directing Kiss Me Kote for PUP last winter.

James B. Weiss will be the music director and conductor for the production. Mr. Weiss, a sophomore, began his college career by directing music for Triangle's A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum. He is a classical jazz pianist and this is the second project on which he and Mr. Jasiunas have collaborated, the first being Kiss Me Kate.

Tickets are $12 general admission, $6 for students. Matinee prices are $8 for general admission, $4 for students. For information and reservations call 258-8505.

Teddy Bears Welcome At Saturday Performance
Children are invited to bring their teddy bears (or any other small stuffed animal) to the Rosenshontz show on Saturday at 1st McCarter Theatre. Each teddy bear introduced at the box office will entitle its friend to a discounted ticket that is $3 off the regular ticket price of $9.

This offer is made to highlight the fact that the popular children's entertainers Gary Rosen and Bill Shontz will be singing some of their teddy bear songs: Party Teddy Bears, Old Shoe Bear, Rock 'N' Roll Teddy Bear, and Teddy Bear's Picnic. The show is suggested for children ages 4 to 11, but the duo's music and wit appeals as much to parents and grandparents as it does to children.

For more information on what McCarter Theatre is calling "A Teddy Bear's Picnic," call the box office at 683-8000.

Musical 'Cinderella' Set By Class Act Productions
Class Act Productions, a Trenton Theatre company, will present the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical version of Cinderella at the Mill Hill Playhouse, Front and Montgomery Streets, Trenton. Performances are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 5, 6, 7, 12, 13, 14, 19, 20 and 21.

Queen Cosntantine (Mary Hiatt) feels her son, Prince Christopher (Brian Wurtz) is lonely and needs a girl. When she tells King Maximilian (Howard Ebersole) that his people do not love him because he hasn't done anything to cause them to do so, they decide to have a ball. They invite all the eligible girls in the kingdom so the Prince may select his bride.

New Theatrical Works Given Staged Readings

Loretta Greco and Paul Zablocki, co-producing artistic directors of Two Parts Theater Company, announce A Field Day of New Theatrical Works on Saturday from 1 to 10 p.m. at the Forbes College Black Box Theatre on Alexander Street. The event will feature staged readings of full length plays, shorts, works-in-progress, art installations and live music. Admission is free and open to the public.

Three full length plays will be given staged readings. Julianne Bernstein's The Party Angel, directed by Richard D. Weed, is a comedy that deals with a 30-something New York couple and their uninvited party guest who won't leave their home. Ms. Bernstein received her M.F.A. from Rutgers University in 1991.

David Grimm's I Wake Up Screaming is a comedy about gender, priorities, and the nature of friendship. Mr. Grimm's plays Sheridan and Enough Rope were both produced at the Williamstown Theatre Festival starring Kate Burton and Elaine Stritch respectively.

Nicole Burdette's Tongue Tied by Authority, directed by Tamsen Wolff, explores people's good nature and strong will, as they are toyed with by authority. Ms. Burdette is a co-founding member of Naked Angels, an off-Broadway company in New York. Her plays include Chelsea Walls, The Great Unwashed and The Bluebird Special Came Through Here.

A Field Day will continue at 8 p.m. with shorter pieces and works in progress including Eyes, Noses, Mouths, a dark tale of innocence and youth by Gary M. Sunshine, a Princeton University graduate and literary manager for Two Parts Theater Company; Cater-Waiter, a solo performance piece that deals with the world of catering and waitering by storyteller and playwright Tim McGee; and Calendar, an exploration of three generations of women attempting to bridge their communication gaps, by Ellen Melaver.

Ms. Melaver, a Princeton University graduate, recently had a staged reading of her play Martha for Lincoln Center Theater.

The day will conclude with I Got Something for You, a chilling tale of two brothers as they prepare to murder their parents, by award-winning novelist and playwright Joyce Carol Oates.

Two Parts Theater Company is dedicated to exploring socially relevant issues by combining the voice of the playwright and the work of the actor.

Pianist to Give Recital At Taplin Auditorium

Glenn Jacobson will be heard in a piano recital presented by The Friends of Music at Princeton on Sunday afternoon at 3 in Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall on the Princeton University campus. The program will feature works by Schubert, Mozart, Brahms, and Wagner, transcribed by Liszt.

Mr. Jacobson has had a distinguished career as soloist, chamber musician and teacher. Since making his New York debut at Town Hall, he has been heard on the nation's most prestigious concert series, including the Library of Congress, the Phillips Collection, and the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, D.C.; and at the Philadelphia Free Library, and New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art. He has performed in London, Amsterdam, Munich, Eastern Europe and South America.

He teaches at Princeton University.

The program will begin with two Impromptus by Franz Schubert (in F Minor and in G-flat Major), and continue with the Sonata in F Major, K.533, by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and Franz Liszt's transcription of Am stillen Herd from Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg of Richard Wagner. After intermission, the program will conclude with the Variations and Fugue on a Theme of Handel, Opus 24, of Johannes Brahms.

The recital is open to the public without admission charge. For further information, call 258-5000.

Winter Solstice Concert At McCarter Theatre

Windham Hill artists will present a Winter Solstice Concert Monday at 8 at McCarter Theatre. Three recording artists from the Windham Hill label — Nightnoise, Liz Story and Alex De Grassi — will perform.

For the past decade, the quartet Nightnoise has created music that is as lithe and magical as it is unsuited to any conventional definition — a unique melding of Celtic, jazz, classical and pop. Nightnoise has recorded five albums for Windham Hill titled Nightnoise, Something of a Time, At the End of the Evening, The Parting Tide, and Shadow of Time. Nightnoise has also been featured on the first three "A Winter Solstice" recordings.

Mr. Brady is one of a new breed of musicians who finds inspiration in the diversity of contemporary musical media. His musical vision encompasses chamber, orchestral, and electro-acoustic music, through compositions for dance and music theater, to free improvisation and contemporary jazz.

For his Princeton concert, Mr. Brady will perform a number of his own compositions and two works of other composers. The concert is open to the public without admission charge.

New Chamber Series At the Choir College

Westminster Choir College, The School of Music of Rider College, will present a new chamber music concert series beginning Friday, November 12 at 8. Featuring music of the Baroque period, the concert will be held in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus.

The program will feature music from the 17th and 18th centuries and from several countries. It will include German arias by Georg Friedrich Handel; arias, duets and a trio sonata by J.S. Bach; an organ toccata by Dietrich Buxtehude; organ sonatas by Domenico Scarlatti; and duets by Giacomo Carissimi and Claudio Monteverdi.

Prior to the recital a lecture will be offered at 7 in the Dining Commons in the Student Center. Entitled, "Approaches to Performing Baroque Music," it will be led by Gavin Black and Melissa Bohl and include a question and answer period and a demonstration by Ms. Bohl of the Baroque oboe.

Box dinners will be available for $6 and must be ordered by Friday. Audience members are also welcome to bring their own brown-bag dinners.

Westminster Choir College and Westminster Conservatory faculty members performing in the recital are Ellen Lang, soprano; Anne Ackley Gray, soprano; Lindsey Christiansen, mezzo-soprano; Eugene Roan, organ; Gavin Black, harpsichord; Melissa Bohl, oboe; Jill Crawford, flute; and Elizabeth Loughran, cello.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students/senior citizens. To order tickets or box dinners and for more information call the Westminster concerts office at 921-2663, extension 308.

Concert at Richardson Set by Piano Quartet

Pianist Christopher O'Riley joins violinist Pamela Frank, violist Paul Neubauer, and violinist Carter Brey in a program of works for piano quartet Thursday, November 11, at 8 in Richardson Auditorium. Presented by Princeton University Concerts, this is the second offering in this year's Chamber Masterworks Series.

Each of the four musicians pursues an active solo career, and each is equally devoted to chamber music, setting aside time to play with colleagues and such organizations as the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center and the Santa Fe Chamber Music Festival. For the first time, the four are appearing together in a limited number of engagements during the current season.

The program will open with the Piano Quartet in E-flat Major, K.493, by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, followed by the Piano Quartet of contemporary American composer Aaron Jay Kernis, a work commissioned especially for these artists. Following intermission, they will play the Piano Quartet in G Minor, Opus 25, by Johannes Brahms.

Mr. O'Riley is well known to Princeton University Concerts audiences. He has been heard at Richardson as solo recitalist or collaborating artist in each of the past several seasons. His honors include top prizes at the Van Cliburn, Leeds, Busoni, and Montreal competitions, as well as an Avery Fisher Career Grant and the Andrew Wolf Memorial Chamber Music Prize.

Reserved seat tickets, priced at $26, $22, $17; students, $2; are available through the Richardson Auditorium box office. Reservations may be made by calling 258-5000.

Womansong Concert Set By N.J. Womyn's Chorus

The New Jersey Womyn's Chorus will join the African/

Caribbean percussion ensemble Rhythm Express for a concert Sunday, November 14, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the John Witherspoon School Auditorium.

Rhythm Express was co-founded by Maria Breyer, a native of Brazil who plays a variety of hand percussion instruments and drums, and Ubaka Hill, who weaves percussive rhythms with poetry and song. Her messages are social awareness, healing and positive change. Rhythm Express has performed at music festivals, college campuses, national and local conferences and grass roots community events.

Established in 1988, the New Jersey Womyn's Chorus performs only music written by, for, and about women. The group is directed by Glenda Cosenza. It has given concerts for Women's History Month at Trenton State College, Clearbrook retirement community, the Names Project showing of the AIDS Quilt and at a benefit for the New Jersey Coalition for battered women.

The November 14 concert will feature works by women composers from the Medieval period to the present, from lullabies, chants, music from folk, popular and ethnic sources, and from the women's spirituality movement. An original choral work by New Jersey composer Laura I. Kramer will be given its premiere performance.

Tickets purchased in advance of the event are $8 for adults and $5 for students and citizens age 62 or older. At the door tickets will be $10 for adults, $7 for students and older citizens. Children 5 and under are free.

Concert Features Music By Westminster Teacher

The music of J. Kawarsky will be featured in a recital Sunday at 4 in Bristol Chapel on the campus of Westminster Choir College.

Narrated by Diana Crane, the repertoire will include folk songs, religious pieces, choral works and orchestral works written by Mr. Kawarsky, a Westminster faculty member. A world premiere of Dance, a piece for solo organ will also be performed.

Those performing in the concert are George Corbett, oboe; Walker Cunningham, organ; Thomas Faracco, tenor; Jonathan Helton, soprano and alto saxophone; Lorna MacDonald, soprano; Stephen Peet, piano; members of the Delaware Valley Men's Chorus; and members of the Westminster Community Orchestra. The orchestra and chorus will be conducted by Mr. Kawarsky.

Mr. Kawarsky is an assistant professor of music theory at Westminster and the founding director of the Delaware Valley Men's Chorus.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students/senior citizens. For more information call the Westminster concerts office at 921-2663.

Horizons Coffee House Features N.J. Guitarist

Horizons Coffee House will feature Michael Jerling, a recording artist on the New Jersey-based independent label Shanachi, will be the featured musician Friday at 8. The Coffee House is held monthly in Fellowship Hall of the Six Mile Run Reformed Church, Route 27, Franklin Park.

Mr. Jerling is a songwriter and singer who is described as "devastatingly skilled" in the art of six-string manipulation.

The evening's special guest is Barb Martin, who draws her influences from country, blues, folk and rock. Her tunes are described as "part country, part folk, part folk-tale, a sort of apology for small-town life."

Homebaked desserts are available along with coffee and teas. Patrons are asked to bring their own mugs as part of the environmental effort. Admission is $6, or $5 with a donation of non-perishable food goods for New Brunswick's God Squad. Children under 12 are admitted for $3, and there is a discount for students with ID.

Chamber Music Concert At Kirby Arts Center

"ATHENA - A WOMAN FOR ALL SEASONS," will be the subject of a gallery talk on Friday, November 12, at 12:30 p.m., at the Princeton University Art Museum. The program, by Catherine Vanderpool, director of U.S. Operations, American School of Classical Studies, has been organized in conjunction with the exhibition "Goddess and Polis: The Panathenaic Festival in Ancient Athens," on view through November 28. The talk will be repeated on Sunday, November 14, at 3 p.m. Admission is free.

ART

Exhibits

Area artists Dorothy Wells
Bissell, Cintra Sander and Jeanne Pasley will exhibit their work at the Studio Gallery in Hopewell beginning with a reception on Saturday, November 13, from 5 to 7 p.m. The show will run through December 17. Featured will be work painted on trips to Puerto Rico, Portugal, Alaska, Ireland, New Mexico and California.

Ms. Bissell, one of this year's top award winners at the Phillips Mill Exhibition in New

Hope, Pa., is listed in Who's Who in American Women. She is a prize winner in the American Pen Women shows and has exhibited in numerous one- and two-person shows on the east coast. She has taught painting at the Parsons School of Design, Princeton Art Association, Princeton Day School and on the ocean with the Cunard Line, Sun Line and others.

Ms. Sander graduated from Philadelphia College of Art where she studied illustration.
She has designed logos, flyers and brochures for more than 52 special events in the Princeton area. Ms. Sander started an art therapy program at the North Princeton Development Center and designed special murals for retarded children.

Ms. Pasley is a graduate of the Art Students' League and studied with Dorothea Greenbaum, Bruno Lucchesi, Mel Leipzig, and Wolf Kahn. She is also a two-time winner of top awards in the Phillips Mill show, and has participated in many shows in the area.

The 1993 Mercer County Photography exhibition will be held at Trenton State College Art Gallery, Holman Hall, beginning November 17 and ending December 15. The show will feature photographs by artists currently living, working, or attending school in Mercer County.

The opening reception will be held Wednesday, November 17, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the College Art Gallery.

The juried exhibition offers a $300 prize for best in show, purchase awards, and merit awards. The juror is Jeffrey Blake, a Guggenheim Fellow-

graphs are displayed in the Museum of Modern Art, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

TSC art faculty member Elizabeth Mackie coordinated the exhibition, which has been held at Trenton State College for more than 10 years.

Gallery hours are Monday to Friday, noon to 3; Thursday, 7 to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 to 3 p.m.

The Williams Gallery, 8
Chambers Street, will present an exhibit, "America the Beautiful: Paintings of Flags and Nudes by William Bradford Bock," from November 13 through December 4.

The opening reception will take place November 13 from 4 to 6 p.m.

Mr. Bock is a member of the Salmagundi Club in New York, where he is a fellowship winner and 1993 recipient of the small works award. His work has been exhibited by the Williams
Gallery since 1985.

Do You Wish You Could Own A Renoir?

Pierre A. Renoir—A Young Girl with Daisies—
26 1/4" x 20 1/4"

The original of this painting is privately owned and
is a museum quality exact replica, painted by Michael Molly, one of the world's finest copyists. Other replicas of the Grand Masters by Michael Molly are now on exhibit and offered for purchase.

LIMITED EDITIONS

Also available are Limited Editions of Michael Molly's
Grand Masters replicas at affordable prices. All Limited

Attention: Art Owners and Collectors

Do you wish you could own a favorite or special painting that is not available to you? You can commission Michael Molly to paint an exact replica for you to own and enjoy.

Save on insurance. Have a copy of your valuable work of art painted for you to display and enjoy while you keep your original in a safe place. Is this the time to sell your favorite painting? Have a copy made, so you may enjoy the painting after it is sold.

"The market for genuine imitations of old masters is thriving in London auction houses. They can't

Sloppy Weather, Sloppy Contest, But Tiger Football Finally Dispatches Outmanned Columbia Team, 14-3

Sometimes, you just have to be happy with the "W". In a game marred by penalties and slowed down by a steady rain, Princeton dispatched pesky Columbia, 14-3, and raised its record to 7-0 (4-0 Ivy League), setting the stage for this week's showdown against the league's other unbeaten team, Pennsylvania.

The game at Franklin Field will mark the first time since 1894 that the Southernmost Ivy League teams enter their annual clash with perfect marks. More recently, in 1971, Princeton met Penn with each squad boasting a 3-0-1 record.

"We're a real good football team, and they're very good. It's going to come down to a showdown this week," said senior quarterback Joel Foote (six-for-16, 77 yards, one INT). "I think we'll be ready. We've played two ugly weeks of football, and it's time for us to step it up a notch. We're going to have to."

TWO STARTERS SHINING THIS SEASON: Junior wide receiver Marc Ross and senior linebacker David Getson are two players who won starting roles in pre-season and have performed exceptionally well.

Neither team did much moving for most of the first quarter. Princeton got as far as the Columbia 30-yard line, but Foote failed to connect with junior receiver Marc Ross on fourth-and-eight.

The Tigers ventured into Columbia territory on their next possession, too, but back-to-back penalties sent them all the way back to their own 33. But Princeton caught a break. Lions' return man Jeremy Howell dropped senior Matt Golden's punt, and senior special teams czar Lou Cherico pounced on the pigskin at the Columbia 23.

Elias needed only two carries to make it into the end zone. On the second one, he took a Foote pitch and ran off left tackle 15 yards. Senior Jeff Hogg's extra point gave the Tigers a 7-0 lead.

Eric Olsen's field goal cut the deficit to 7-3 midway through the second quarter. The play capped a 47-yard drive that relied mostly on the running of fullbacks John Klosek (eight attempts, 29 yards) and John Harper (six attempts, 13 yards).

Despite Elias' typically gargantuan numbers, Columbia hung with the Tigers throughout the contest, mostly because of Princeton's high number of penalties (12) and unusually poor execution on the opponent's side of the 50. Six Princeton drives stalled after the Tigers had crossed midfield.

"A lot of little things today were drive-killers," said Foote. "Those are the things that, when you put together a few good plays in a row and you're driving the ball down the field, you can't have if you want to keep the drive going."

Stop the Shooting

Princeton's statistical dominance gave the impression that the Tigers were going to win this game, as long as they found a way to stop shooting themselves in the foot. The Tigers maintained a 429-276 advantage in total offense, including a whopping 352-43 edge in net-rushing yardage.

There was some mild concern with facing Columbia starting quarterback Jamie Schwalbe, who had played well in relief of the injured Chad Andrzejewski the previous week. Schwalbe ended up completing 15 of 35 passes for 233 yards, but 83 of those yards came in a desperation drive during the final minute after the outcome had been sealed.

"There always is that unknown," said Princeton head coach Steve Tosches, who has put the 1988 disaster in New York well behind him in winning his third straight against the Lions. "You see him very little on film, and you're not really sure what kind of player he is. Are they going to put in a couple of new wrinkles to try to take advantage of whatever kind of talent he has?"

Although he used a quick dropback, Schwalbe still was dropped for a sack four times, twice by senior defensive end Brian Kazan. The constant pressure applied by the defense kept Schwalbe from developing a comfortable rhythm with which to move the Columbia offense.

Ivy Football Forecast

Penn* over Princeton. Quakers squeeze by Tigers led by McGeehan's passing.

Dartmouth over Columbia. Big Green now has clear sailing until its November 20 date with Princeton.

Cornell* over Yale. Offenses equal, Big Red's defense should give it the edge at home.

Harvard over Brown*. Crimson quarterback Mike Giarli should be the difference.

"They're both good football teams," said Columbia head coach Ray Tellier, whose team fell to the Quakers, 36-7, two weeks ago. "They both have some strengths. It's going to be a pretty good game. Because of the weather today some of those comparisons are tough, but I think it's going to be a real close game."

In order to make the game a clash of unbeaten teams, the Tigers had to attend to the business of beating Columbia (1-6, 0-4 Ivy). It wasn't easy. Though the Palmer Stadium field was covered by tarpaulins until an hour before game time, the constant rain left the field — and the ball — slippery.

"Rain can be an equalizer," said Tellier. "They put the ball on the ground a few times, and so did we."

Add Tellier to the growing list of Princeton opponents taking solace in holding Elias under 300 yards.

"We were able to contain [Elias] where he didn't make a big play," he said. "He earned a lot of those yards, and he carried the ball a heck of a lot to get them. He had a long gain of 27 yards. There aren't too many people he hasn't had a longer gain against this year."

[For the record, Ray, two of Princeton's six previous opponents have held Elias to longest gains of less than 27 yards this year.]

A Day of Reckoning at Hand For Princeton This Saturday

A major day of reckoning is at hand for the Princeton football team.

It cannot be called THE day of reckoning, because the job will not be finished if the Tigers defeat Penn at Franklin Field this Saturday. (Game time 1 p.m.) Important games against Yale and Dartmouth will remain.

But this battle of unbeaten (7-0) teams is unquestionably the biggest test for the Orange and Black of this season and arguably its most significant contest in the last quarter century. The hopes for an outright Ivy title ride on the outcome, and Princeton has not had the pleasure of one of those since 1964, when it finished 9-0.

Two more shared championships came in the sixties, and then 20 years striving merely to stay competitive, while Dartmouth, Harvard, Penn and Yale took turns wearing the league crown alone. Princeton's fortunes turned for the better in the mid-eighties, and have improved ever since.

Old Nassau shared a title in 1989 and again last fall, but each time it came up short in a crucial contest that would have meant an outright title. In '89, Yale and Princeton, undefeated in league play, met in Palmer Stadium, and the Elis walked away a 14-7 victor in a game that many felt the Tigers gave away. The Tigers managed to grab a share of that championship, when the Elis lost to Harvard a week later.

Last November here Dartmouth handed Princeton its first Ivy loss, forcing the Orange and Black into yet another shared title. It was the second consecutive year the Big Green had won a showdown between the two in the final game.

Now a solid Penn team stands in Princeton's way in the biggest game between these two since 1952, when the Quakers broke Princeton's 24-game winning streak. Once the Red and Blue got by Dartmouth, 10-6, in the season's opener, it has rolled successfully over a series of mediocre foes, Bucknell, Fordham, Colgate, Columbia, Brown and Yale, scoring a minimum of 30 points each time. Off their last two performances, the Tigers will have to raise their level of play a couple of notches to match the high-flying Quakers.

While Princeton relies on the run, the Red and Blue, led by senior quarterback Jim McGeehan, is the top passing team in the league, averaging more than 240 yards per game. McGeehan, who has improved tremendously this year as a passer, throws to the league's top receiver, Miles Macik, who already has 50 receptions. Tiger quarterback Joel Foote is actually rated a little higher than Penn in passing efficiency, but Penn has the more dangerous aerial attack.

Junior tailback Terrance Stokes, out of Trenton High, is second in rushing behind Elias, whose weekly yardage makes the Tigers the top rushing team among the Ancient Eight. The Quakers lead the league in defense, the Tigers are third. Princeton edges out the Red and Blue by a few yards as the top offensive team.

Look for this contest to be a street fight. Over the years Penn has gained a reputation, deserved or not, that is similar to the Oakland Raiders of the NFL for its brand of football. But the Tigers, with their veteran team, won't shy away from the challenge. With this much at stake, there will be plenty of attempts at intimidation on both sides.

As it has all season, Princeton will pin its hopes on Elias to move the offense. If he starts to rip off consistent gains, passing lanes should open up for Joel Foote. That will be the key for the Tigers. Meanwhile, the Quakers will need McGeehan's passing to give them room to run against the Tigers, who have allowed fewer than 60 yards per game on the ground. Princeton's secondary will be tested early and often.

In Penn's favor is the familiarity with its astroturf, (Princeton last played on it in the opening game of the '92 season) and a big Homecoming crowd that is expected to reach 40,000 — and no Ivy stadium is quite as noisy as Franklin Field. The Quakers may also be motivated by memories of two consecutive close losses to Old Nassau, 17-12 in 1991 and 20-14 last season, and four straight defeats overall.

This game figures to be tight and low scoring and could turn on a fumble, interception or penalty at a crucial time. If this game were on natural grass in Palmer Stadium the choice would be the Tigers, but in Franklin Field it has to be Penn, 21-17. That's no knock against Princeton's ability or desire, just the feeling the home field advantage will prove to be just enough to push an equally good Penn eleven over the top, with McGeehan's passing making the difference.

Finally, don't forget Dartmouth. The Big Green survived elimination from the title chase for the second straight week. As he did against Cornell, quarterback Jay Fiedler put his team in a hole early with interceptions (he threw four in all), then led a furious comeback to turn a 28-11 third-quarter deficit into a 39-34 victory.

A victory over Penn would be a tremendous feat, but no guarantee of anything for Princeton.

— Jeb Stuart heard when a television time-out was announced.

The Tigers elicited some excitement on their next series, which, like their first scoring drive, featured a crucial Columbia mistake.

Beginning at its 12-yard line late in the third quarter, Princeton used big plays from Elias (a 27-yard sweep) and junior Dave Scoggin (a 21-yard pass reception) to reach the Columbia 31, where it faced a fourth-and-six to start the fourth quarter.

But Foote managed to draw the Lions offside, giving the Tigers a more manageable scenario of fourth-and-one. With Elias in the backfield, it was as good as a first down, as he dove through the line for the requisite one yard.

Next, junior fullback C.J. Brucato (three attempts, 29 yards) ran off right guard for 12 yards, then Elias took the following handoff past right tackle and ran 13 yards untouched into the end zone for a 14-3 advantage.

The Tigers had opportunities to pad the lead, but more penalties and a Foote fumble killed scoring opportunities. It didn't matter, though, because the monstrous Orange and Black defense had the Lions' offense well in check.

By holding Columbia on its last drive, which had reached the brink of the Princeton goal line when time ran out, the Tiger defense chalked up another half without a touchdown for the seventh time this season.

Now if it can run that total to nine by this time next week, there will be a lot of smiling faces on that bus ride home from Philadelphia.

—Mike Jackman

Note: With his seventh 200-yard-plus rushing performance of his career last Saturday, Keith Elias has broken the former record of six in a career for Division I-AA players.

Season Finales Monday For PHS Girls' Teams

The Princeton High field hockey and girls' soccer teams ended their seasons on Monday.

How Little Tiger field hockey coach Joyce Jones must wish she could play the first half of the season over again. After getting off to a dismal 1-8 start, PHS came on with a rush to win six of its last seven, including a 2-0 victory over Ewing Monday in a makeup contest, to finish the season with seven wins and nine losses.

One of those who improved as the season went on was senior Megan Donoghue, who scored both goals in the win over Ewing. Donoghue finished with five goals to lead the team in scoring. Sheri Durkee was second with three.

Jones cited the defensive play of junior sweeper Stacy Miller in helping to turn the season around. Another factor was the play of goalie Meg Maher, who took over the goal tending duties at the start of the Little Tigers' run. Seven of Princeton's losses were frustrating 1-0 setbacks.

Seniors graduating include Stephanie Hosea, Anna Stowell, Elisa Orlanski, Galen Knudsen, Diane Gilbert, Michole Biancosino, Kira Apse, Jennifer Crall, Lindsay Laird, Lauren Miller and Donoghue.

Lawrenceville Wins

Like the field hockey team, the Princeton girls' soccer team got off to a poor start, losing its first six games. Unlike the field hockey team, the soccer team also lost its final game when it was hammered by Lawrenceville, 8-1. The eight goals were the most surrendered by the Little Tigers this season.

The Big Red team, competing in the Prep A state tournament, received two goals each from three players and led, 4-0, at halftime. PHS averted a shutout on a goal by Cathy Gilbert. Gilbert led the team in scoring with four goals. Catherine Gordon had three and four other players had one each.

Coach Greg Hand's team finished the season with four wins, 11 losses and a tie. Its high water mark was three shutout wins in a row over Hightstown, Princeton Day School and Lawrence near the end of the season.

Hand loses only four seniors to graduation: Evin Aksay, Kathryn Gordon, Jennifer Jolly and Sian MacAdam.

PHS Valley Champions With 13th Tennis Win

year, the Princeton High girls' tennis team reclaimed the Valley title Friday with a 4½-½ victory over Nottingham. The victory was the 13th in 17 matches for coach Bill Humes' Little Tigers.

Earlier, PHS had blanked Ewing, 5-0, for its 12th win. The Little Tigers ended 14-4 the previous year.

Nottingham got an assist from the weather in its match with Princeton. The third singles between Princeton's Keiko Okuda and Nottingham's Lori Uretsky was ruled a tie after it was halted because of darkness with Okuda leading 4-0 in the third set.

PHS freshman Sarah Levine had to battle before winning her first singles match, 7-6 (7-5), 6-4. Sophie Wenzel was in a war at second singles before the PHS senior finally pulled out a 1-6, 6-1, 7-6 (7-3) win over Nema Karimi of the Northstars.

The 15-6 Northstars did not go easily in doubles play, either. Jen Cook and Mandi Caudill of PHS swept the first doubles, 6-3, 7-5, but teammates Donna Cecan and Kara Porwancher were carried to three sets in second doubles. They outlasted Val Kraemer and Lisa Jellenek, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

Boys, Girls Split in Soccer

In soccer games against Nottingham Thursday, the PHS boys' team won, 3-1, while the PHS girls bowed to the Northstars, 3-1. Two days earlier, both teams were defeated by Ewing by identical 4-0 scores.

Against Nottingham, the visiting PHS boys' team scored all three of its goals in the first half on goals by Rich Osmer (his fifth), Brian Kruegel (his fourth) and a first by Jose Alvarado. Chip Cominski scored for Nottingham and that was all the scoring, as the second half was scoreless.

Craig Schroeder with nine saves in goal was a big plus for the Blue and White, which was outshot, 19-16.

After Jessica Gonzales had scored the opening goal for the visiting Northstars, Princeton's Leigh Coppel tied it at 1 with her first goal of the season.

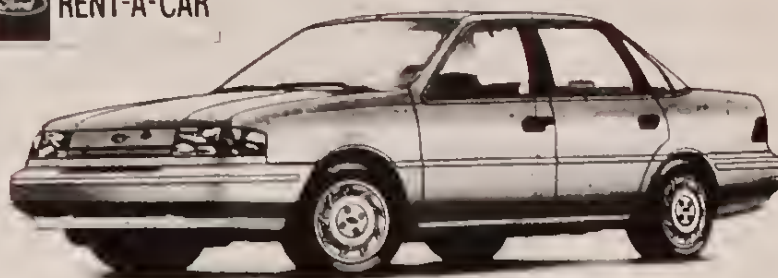

But Nottingham went on to score three more times in the second half, including a second goal by Gonzales, while PHS was limited to a Kathy Gordon goal — her third of the season. The Northstars enjoyed a 16-7 advantage in shots on goal. The a very good running back. He's very fast."

Previous to Stanley's score, reserve back Erik Keller scored his first touchdown on a 28-yard run. "We ran a nice little trap for him," said Long.

Hun's premier back, Chris Ventresca (688 yards and 6 TDs) did not play and Long reported the senior co-captain is not responding well to an ankle injury. The chances of his seeing action against EMOC are doubtful, said Long.

Actually, there were two 'best things' about the Hun win. The second was the running of fullback Jim O'Brien, the post graduate from Princeton High who was an All-Colonial Valley Conference lineman last year for the Little Tigers.

Long has been consistently singing the praises of O'Brien's defensive play from his linebacker position, but last week O'Brien showed he could run the ball, too. The 6-1, 223-pound O'Brien scored on touchdown runs of one and 25-yards and on an 85-yard pass interception which gave Hun a 26-0 halftime lead. On the latter, Long reported O'Brien just cut in front of a receiver and was gone.

Also scoring for Hun were Troy Lipani on a 10-yard run and Calvin Peterson on a six-yard pass from quarterback Randy Davidson. It was the first score this season for both.

The Hun ball carriers amassed 227 yards rushing while the Hun defense was limiting the visitors to a scant 46 yards in 28 attempts — less than two yards per carry.

Having already captured the Prep A title this year, Hun's remaining goal is to post wins over EMOC and Wyoming Seminary in its season's finale to end with a highly satisfying 7-2 record.

Stuart Tennis Team Is Fifth in Prep B

The Stuart tennis team split its matches last week and fared well in the Prep tournament. On Monday, Coach Jim Giovacchini's squad downed Pennington School, 3-2. Stuart lost to Hun, 4-1, on Tuesday but came back strong to take fifth place in the state Prep B Tournament on Friday and Saturday. The Tartans finished the season at 3-9.

The No. 2 doubles team of Katie Baus and Danielle Vaughan made it to the finals before falling, giving them a second-place finish in the state. The Tartan twosome cruised to a victory over Pennington in the tourney's first round, 6-0, 6-2; blew out Purnell in the second round, 6-0, 6-1; and defeated Blair in a come-from-behind semifinal match, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. In the finals, they lost to the state champion team from Hun, 6-1, 6-3.

"Their semifinal was just tremendous," said Giovacchini. "After the first set, they got more aggressive at the net and turned it around. Katie and Danielle were 11-3 at No. 2 doubles this year — fantastic!"

At No. 1 singles, Shuko Kawase lost to Ranney in the opening round, 6-2, 6-0. Mary Kate Scanlon, No. 2 singles, downed Lakewood Prep in round one, 6-4, 6-0, but was knocked out by Hun, the eventual flight winner, in round two, 6-0, 6-0. Janet Marsicano, No. 3 singles, defeated Wardlaw-Hartridge in the opening round, 7-5, 6-0, but lost to Ranney in round two, 6-4, 6-0. Stuart's No. 1 doubles team forfeited.

Against Pennington on October 25, the three victories in the close match came from Alma Moxon at No. 2 singles, 6-4, 6-4; Marsicano, No. 2 singles, 4-6, 7-5, 7-6 (7-4 tiebreaker);

TENNIS CAPTAINS: Stuart School seniors Alma Moxon and Danielle Vaughan helped lead the Tartans to a fifth place finish in the Prep B Championships last weekend. Stuart finished with a 3-9 record.

and Baus and Vaughan, No. 2 doubles, 6-4, 6-4. Kawase lost at No. 1 singles, 6-1, 6-2; as did the No. 1 doubles team of Denise Ramzy and Sara Burchell, 6-7, 6-4, 7-6 (7-4 tiebreaker).

"It was an incredible nail-biter," Giovacchini explained. "Marsicano was the last person playing. It was almost pitch black, but she managed to pull it out for us."

Against Hun, Burchell, playing No. 3 singles, captured Stuart's only win, 7-5, 6-1. The four losses came from Kawase, No. 1 singles, 6-0, 6-0; Marsicano, No. 2 singles, 6-0, 6-0; Ramzy and Vaughan, No. 1 doubles, 6-3, 7-6 (8-6 tiebreaker); and Baus and Scanlon, No. 2 doubles, 6-3, 6-1.

PDS Football Is Seeking Another Winning Season

A 12-7 loss in the rain to Morristown-Beard was not what the Princeton Day football team would have liked last Saturday, but the focus is now concentrated on the season finale this Saturday against Newark Academy.

This Panther team has the opportunity to produce a second straight winning season, something that has not been accomplished in this sport since the 1979 and 1980 seasons. The 5-3 mark would also improve on last fall's 4-3-1 record.

Although, coach Mark Adams' players will find themselves on the road for the second week in a row, their opponent should be considerably easier. Newark Academy has won just once in seven tries, and was thrashed 40-6 by Pennington last week.

All the scoring in last Saturday's contest came in the first half, but the Panthers found themselves down 12-0 before they got on the scoreboard. Mo-Beard took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards to its first touchdown, which came on a two-yard run. The extra point failed, leaving MB ahead, 6-0.

PDS had no luck in its early possessions, and the Crimson tallied again in the second period, this time on a 28-yard pass play. Behind 12-0, PDS got back in the game when Ian Halpern connected with Jeff Overman on a three-yard touchdown pass. The extra point was good, leaving PDS the opportunity to win if it could score again.

But even though Andy Overman finished with 162 yards rushing on 28 carries, PDS could not manage another score in the sloppy conditions. MB had no luck either and the game ended 12-7.

PDS Field Hockey Wins First Round of Prep A

It has been a rebuilding year for the Princeton Day field hockey team that has put together a modest 4-4-3 mark.

But last Thursday, the young Panther squad gave a good indication that it is ready to move to a higher level next fall. Coach Jill Thomas' team made an early 1-0 lead stand up and won its quarterfinal round against Mount St. Mary's in the Prep A Tournament.

As the defending champion, it was a nice win for PDS, which did not want to be knocked out in the first round. Survival from here on in is another matter. Princeton Day was scheduled to face top-seeded Oak Knoll, a 4-0 winner over Dwight-Englewood, this past Tuesday. Finals are set for this Thursday.

The game was not even two minutes old when PDS's Jessie D'Altrui tallied what would be the only goal of the contest. The sophomore intercepted a free hit by MSM at the top of the circle, dribbled toward the goal, and fired a hard shot past the MSM goalie that hit the backboard of the cage with a resounding whack.

That came just 1:10 into the game, and neither team scored thereafter. Princeton Day threatened to produce another goal on several occasions, but could not get the ball past the aggressive MSM netminder, who roamed far and wide to kick the ball away from the goal. She made two good stops when D'Altrui fired at point blank range with less than four minutes remaining in the contest.

By contrast PDS goalie Cynthia Shafto was rarely called upon to do much. The visitors managed to move the ball into the PDS circle a few times, but did not have any good opportunities to score.

Merritt Janson and Kelly Bahhitt played well, sending several long shots downfield, and breaking up advances by Mount St. Mary's.

In the Panthers' final regular season game played in the rain last Saturday, they tied Nottingham 2-2. Behind 2-0 entering the second half, even a tie seemed a remote possibility, but sophomore Lise Lynam came through with a pair of goals to bring about the deadlock.

PDS Girls Soccer to Face Hun in Prep A Semifinals

After the first half of last Friday's quarterfinal Prep B contest, fans of the Princeton Day girls' soccer team were a little uneasy.

The top-seeded Panthers were locked in a scoreless deadlock against eighth-seeded Rutgers Prep, a team they had run off the field in their first meeting, winning 10-2. PDS had missed a few chances to score, but so had the visitors, banging one shot off the crossbar.

Not to worry; in the second half coach Matt Levinson's team came alive and pounded in four goals, while the Argonauts still couldn't get the ball past PDS goalie Janna Levin. Not surprisingly, it was Princeton Day's top scorers, Dana DeCore and Molly Dwyer who did the damage, each tallying twice. Levin ended up with five saves in all.

This Wednesday, the Blue and White will seek to repeat another earlier season triumph, this time against fifth-seeded Hun. PDS defeated the Raiders, 3-1, in the season's opener. A victory there would put PDS in the finals set for this Sunday at Rutgers Prep.

PDS Boys' Soccer Wins Season's Final 2 Games

The Princeton Day boys' soccer team still had at least one game left in the Prep B Tournament early this week, after winning its final two regular season meetings.

The Panthers met top-seeded Montclair Kimberley this past Tuesday (in a game too late to be covered here) in the semifinals. A win would send them into the finals against Gill St. Bernards Sunday at Lawrenceville.

Gill defeated Pennington, 4-0, Monday, despite playing almost the entire contest with 10 players. A Gill player was given a red card early in the contest for a flagrant foul.

The Panthers rolled to their fifth and sixth consecutive victories last week with wins over Pennington and St. Mary's. Chances of beating the Raiders last Thursday seemed remote by halftime when PDS had fallen behind, 2-0. But the heroics of sophomore Matt Zarzecki turned the game completely around in the second half. Zarzecki began the game at sweeper, filling the position because regular starter Matt Labosco was sidelined.

With his team trailing 2-0, coach Tom Griffith changed things around, and Zarzecki was moved forward to half-back. His replacement at sweeper, Jason Hart, got things moving with a long throw-in to Laate Olukotun deep in Pennington territory. Olukotun's quick pass found Zarzecki open in the middle and he sent the ball into the net to cut the deficit to 2-1.

Before the home team could recover from that tally, PDS had knotted the score. Erik Treilman took the ball down the right side, and centered it to Olukotun, who fired in the equalizer. Fewer than four minutes later Treilman was at it again. This time his high centering pass found Zarzecki leaping into the air to direct the ball into the net with his head for the winning goal in a 3-2 final.

On Saturday, PDS, led by Olukotun's four goals, crushed outmanned St. Mary's Hall, 9-0. Treilman also had a big game, scoring once and assisting on two others. Parker Gibson and Adam Schwartz both added a goal and an assist, and Pat Meehan and Jason Kane also scored. Peter Suomi had a pair of assists, and Kevin Gallagher and Roy Lynam, one apiece.

On the Line for PHS Team: Playoffs, Home Advantage

It's all there for the taking. After four weeks on the road, the Princeton High football team returns home Saturday for a key contest with West Windsor. A lot is at stake for the Little Tigers.

"We need a good win over West Windsor," said PHS coach Keith Wadsworth. A win, he said, would not only clinch a berth in the Central Jersey Group II state playoffs for the fourth year in a row for the Little Tigers but also clinch the home field advantage.

"I think the kids will come out and work hard," predicted Wadsworth. "They know how important this game is."

PHS finds itself in control of its own playoff hopes by virtue of its 20-15 victory over Ewing last week — its fifth win in seven games.

West Windsor, Princeton's 2 p.m. opponent on Saturday, is tough to figure this season. "They're hot and they're cold," said Wadsworth. "It doesn't matter who they play. They beat Notre Dame and then lose to Hightstown. The game could go either way."

In its last outing, West Windsor was upset by Hightstown, 6-3, in a game that featured nothing but field goals. The Rams' winning field goal came with seven seconds left to play.

The Pirates are currently 3-3. "They hit and they're big," commented Wadsworth. "They're a good defensive team. Our offense is going to have to turn it up." Noting that PHS started out slow offensively (20 points in its first two games), Wadsworth added, "We're starting to turn it up week by week."

A win over West Windsor, a Group III school, would mean eight power points for PHS, which is battling Wall Township, East Brunswick, JFK-Iselin and Manasquan for one of the four Group II playoff berths.

Wadsworth admitted PHS would like to meet Manasquan again but the Blue Bishops were upset, 7-6, by Donovan High in their last game. "We'd like to play them again but if they lose once more they might not even make it," said Wadsworth of Manasquan. "That loss really hurt them."

Should PHS bow to West Windsor, Wadsworth said it would mean the loss of the home-field advantage and Princeton would also have to hope that teams it has beaten — such as Lawrence, Steinert

No More Mr. Nice Guy

The PHS-Ewing game was rated a toss-up. How then did PHS hold the Blue Devils, who had ground out 416 yards rushing in a rout of Hamilton the week before, to three yards rushing? "Our line is not being so nice to people. That was the difference," explained Wadsworth. "Our defense is maturing; it's getting better and better — which is good to see."

There were more pieces to the PHS win. A 112-yard rushing performance, including a 25-yard touchdown run that clinched the outcome by Ricky Vernon; the solid performance of players in new positions; cutting down on costly penalties in the second half and a 20-point burst in the final period.

Princeton's luck in the first half was as lousy as the weather. On its first possession, a touchdown pass from Brendan Branon to Brandon McEwen was called back because a lineman was down field. Then, Ewing's Jamale Miller stepped in front of a Branon pass and returned it 90 yards to give Ewing a 7-0 lead.

PHS put two points on the board in the first period when a Ewing punt sailed into the end zone for a safety. The second period was scoreless.

"Basically, we played a good first half except for penalties," said Wadsworth. In the second half, the Little Tigers didn't fumble as much, Wadsworth noted, "and we cleaned up our act" as far as committing penalties. "I think things started to go our way," recalled Wadsworth, "when Kirk Webber bear-hugged and sacked their quarterback."

Princeton took the lead for good in the third period when McEwen slanted in from 15 yards out for his first TD of the season. The score was set up when the Little Tigers took over on the Ewing 31 following a 12-yard punt.

Early in the final period, PHS scored the first of three touchdowns when Marquis Johnson scored on a seven-yard run. Again, the Little Tigers started in good field position when Bob Gallagher recovered a fumble by Ewing quarterback Jeff Sgro on the Ewing 27.

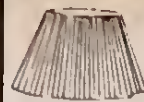

Ewing, hoping to remain unbeaten in the Valley Division of the CVC, continued to shoot itself in the foot. Just minutes after Johnson scored, a wide snap on a punt attempt sailed past punter John Britt, who watched the ball as it rolled into the end zone. Britt, thinking the ball was dead, did not react; Webber did, falling on the ball for six points and a 20-7 lead with 8:38 left to play.

A 28-yard payoff strike over the middle from Sgro to Ewing end Jody Conover cut Princeton's margin to 20-15. Vernon's 25-yard scoring run, his fourth of the season, followed and sealed the outcome for PHS. And should Ewing defeat Nottingham in two weeks, PHS, Ewing and the Northstars would all share the Valley Division title.

"Ricky [Vernon] really turned it up. This is the third game in a row he's run well," said Wadsworth. "We've gotten good performances from him offensively and defensively." Vernon now has rushed for 430 yards.

Wadsworth moved Ron Ira to center and shifted former center and defensive captain Kyle Mapps to tackle. "Ira stepped in and did well on a rough and miserable day," said Wadsworth. "He did all that we asked of him and he's only a sophomore."

Gallagher did a good job containing at defensive end, added Wadsworth, and of senior tackle Damerlin Thompson. Wadsworth said approvingly, "Damerlin is laying people out."

Girl Scouts Care For The Earth

Over the years, Girl Scouts have been active participants and leaders in conducting environmental programs. Last year, they cleaned, collectively, 40 tons of trash from New Jersey waterways, and separated it for recycling. Several cities within the Delaware-Raritan Council (Princeton's council) are working on New Leaf, a reforestation program that promotes city forestry.

Here are a number of ideas and suggestions from the Girl Scouts on caring for the earth.

- Asbestos, a carcinogenic substance has been found in talcum powder. A good alternative to talc is cornstarch.
- According to research, Americans will eat about 1.7 million pounds of tuna today. Look for cans with the "Dolphin Safe" logo on the label.
- Recycle old clothing by collecting it and donating it to your area service or religious organization.
- Buy reusable products and avoid disposables.
- Buy, maintain, and repair durable and fixable products.
- Buy products that can be recycled and make sure you do recycle them. Select products with the most purposeful, least wasteful packaging.
- Buy non-hazardous products for use around the house.
- Buy products made of recycled materials.
- Compost food and yard wastes.
- Borrow or rent things you use infrequently.
- Plant groundcover, scrubs, and trees. This stops erosion, nourishes the soil and provides habitat for wildlife.
- Try to buy and use fertilizers that aren't dangerous to the environment.
- Buy environmentally friendly cleaning supplies.
- Motor oil should not be dumped down a storm drain where it can contaminate water resources. Find a local gas station that accepts and recycles used motor oil.

- Don't dispose hazardous waste products down the drain. Dispose of them on Hazardous Waste Collection days. Watch for announced dates in your newspaper.

- Do not sweep litter, leaves, or grass clippings down the storm drains. These should be placed for collection or composted.

- At least 350 million pieces of junk mail pass through the U.S. Post Office. Ask the post office how you can stop junk mail.

- Experts tell us that commercial fabric softeners don't really soften your clothes. They coat clothing with a thin layer of oil to make them feel softer. It's easy to make your own fabric softeners by simply adding a cup of vinegar to the final rinse.

- Pesticide poisoning is on the rise. It is estimated that 50 dogs, 30 cats, 25 cows, 10 horses, 6,000 fish and 125 people will be poisoned by pesticide in one year.

- If we all recycled our Sunday papers, we could save more than 500,000 trees every week. If every commuter car carried just one more passenger, we'd save 600,000 gallons of gasoline and keep 12 million pounds of "greenhouse gases" out of the atmosphere every day. If we all installed "low-flow" shower heads, we could save billions of gallons of water every year... without ever noticing it. If every American family planted just one tree, over a billion pounds of "greenhouse gases" would be removed from the atmosphere every year.

In and Around Princeton

1993 Productivity Award Won by ALK Associates

ALK Associates, Inc., Princeton, has been named the winner of Progressive Railroading's Productivity Award for 1993.

The annual award recognizes significant contributions by companies that have made "meaningful and quantifiable improvements in the productivity of the rail transportation industry."

ALK Associates, Inc. received the productivity award in the category of management practices and techniques. The company was honored specifically for development of a locomotive distribution system in partnership with Burlington Northern and Union Pacific Railroads.

ALK Associates, Inc. is a technology company specializing in the development of decision support computer systems for the transportation industry.

Princeton House to Gain From Health Agreement

Princeton House has entered an agreement with HIP/Rutgers Health Plans by which subscribers to the HIP/Rutgers Health Plan living in central New Jersey will be referred to Princeton House for treatment if they require inpatient hospitalization for detoxification or the treatment of addiction, dual diagnosis or mental illness. The contract is to become effective January 1.

"This arrangement represents a new partnership between Princeton House and one of the oldest managed care organizations in this state," said Richard Wohl, vice president of Princeton House. Efforts are under way to prepare for this affiliation and to continue the high-quality treatment services which have become the hallmark of Princeton House programs.

Psychiatrists, as well as additional staff in the areas of nursing, social work, adjunctive therapies and the support services will be added before the end of the year.

Metuchen Architects Open Office in Princeton

Schmitt Anderson Architects has announced a new branch office in Princeton. The firm will keep its headquarters office in Metuchen. Currently Schmitt Anderson is under way on 10 residential projects in Princeton as well as a children's retail store (Pip Squeak and Wilfred) at Princeton MarketFair and a 25,000-square-foot medical office facility on Bunn Drive, for the Princeton Development Group.

Frederick Schmitt and Reidun Anderson both attended Cornell University and both were valedictorians of architecture for their respective classes. Mr. Schmitt earned both his bachelors and masters degrees in architecture from Cornell University.

Area Accounting Firm Is Honored by Publication

For the third consecutive year, Amper, Politziner & Mattia, certified public accountants and consultants, 601 Ewing Street, has been named one of the 50 finest CPA firms in the United States by CPA Digest. CPA Digest is a monthly newsletter published for the accounting industry by Harcourt Brace Professional Publishing.

The award was based on client service, practice diversification, outstanding performance in revenue growth, and productivity.

Personnel Notes

Richard A. Weidel, Jr., president of Ricahrd A. Weidel Corporation Realtors, has been appointed to a second term on the New Jersey Association of Realtors (NJAR) Strategic Planning Committee.

NJAR was founded in 1917 to promote and create public awareness of realtor professionalism, code of ethics, public service programs, and achievements, as well as to identify and promote new products, services and professional awareness of important issues.

Corner House has announced the addition of two therapists, Susan Fairfield and Walter Humenick.

Ms. Fairfield, a former professor of languages and literature, in 1991 received a master of social work degree from the Smith College School of Social Work. She will concentrate on the treatment of individual adults and has a special interest in the treatment of eating disorders and survivors of incest.

Mr. Humenick received a master of social work degree from Rutgers University in May. He also has received certification as a chemical dependency associate, and has worked in the substance abuse treatment field for two years.

Linda Darkes, broker associate with RE/MAX Realtors of Princeton, has been selected by Edward Bucci Builders as exclusive listing agent for the marketing of its European estate home being constructed at 170 Library Place.

Approximately 6,000 square feet in size, including private in-law or au pair quarters, the residence is being constructed in what is widely regarded as the Borough's last available premium location.

A Mercer County real estate broker since 1987, Ms. Darkes has produced career-volume real estate closings totalling more than $33 million, placing her in the top one percent of residential agents in the United States.

Tod Peyton

Gillespie, a full-service marketing communications firm, has named Thomas C. Healey, of Plainsboro, as senior public relations counselor/account supervisor. He has more than 10 years experience in corporate and financial communications.

Mr. Healey was previously Mutual of New York's director of public relations.

Jerry Grundfest, of Princeton, a broker associate in Burgdorff Realtors' Audrey Short Division in Princeton, has been selected by the National Association of Realtors to take part in the Sales Strategies Certificate Program.

He will serve as an evaluator for this continuing education program, which outlines the latest techniques that top real estate professionals may use to increase their business. Upon completion of the program, Mr. Grundfest will be awarded a Sales Strategies Certificate and receive recognition in NAR publications.

Tod Peyton represented Peyton Associates, Princeton's exclusive Great Estates affiliate, at Great Estates' annual principals' conference in Bigfork, Montana.

Great Estates is a network of real estate firms that represent the most exclusive and expensive homes. The properties range from $500,000 to $10 million.

To request a copy of Great Estates magazine, call Mr. Peyton at 921-1550.

The board of directors of Management Planning, Inc., Poor Farm Road, has announced the election of James W. Brockardt and Frank E. Koehl Jr. to the board. Mr. Brockardt is a vice president who has specialized in litigation support and in tax and transaction-based valuations since joining MPI in 1975.

Mr. Koehl, who joined MPI in 1981, is vice president and has a broad range of experience in many service and manufacturing industries. He specializes in valuations of health care providers and related entities.

Donald P. Nowill, of West Orange, has been named administrative director of outpatient services at Carrier Foundation, Belle Mead, a private, nonprofit hospital specializing in mental health and addiction recovery services.

Nancy F. Goldstein

Jerry Grundfest

Previously, he was executive director of Outpatient Recovery Centers, Fair Oaks Hospital. Mr. Nowill has served as supervisor of financial reporting and analysis at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital, Houston, Texas, and as assistant controller at HCA Gulf Coast Hospital, Baytown, Texas.

Nancy F. Goldstein and Richard L. Eland announce the opening of their law practice, Goldstein and Eland, P.C. at Princeton Professional Park, 601 Ewing Street. The firm offers a full range of legal services for corporate, commercial and individual clients.

Ms. Goldstein was most recently with Jamieson Moore Peskin & Spicer in Princeton. She is currently nominated to serve as trustee of the Mercer County Bar Association's Real Estate Section. Ms. Goldstein received her J.D. degree from Rutgers University School of Law, where she was the recipient of the Graduate Scholars Award, and a B.A. in criminology magna cum laude from University of Maryland. She and her family live in Princeton, where she is a board member of the Jewish Family Service of the Delaware Valley.

RELIGION

Speakers Are Listed For 12th CREED Event

CREED (The Christian Renewal Effort for Emerging Democracies) will hold its 12th annual conference on Saturday at Princeton Theological Seminary. The theme of the conference is "Christians in the World."

The featured speaker will be Julius Schreider, head of the Laboratory of Consciousness Problems of the Russian Academy of Science and a member of the staff of the Russian Bible Society. Dr. Schreider's family was Jewish agnostic. He converted secretly to Catholicism in 1970 and was baptized in a small Catholic church in Estonia. An "intuition of God" led him to the realization that it was religion and not science that was the basis of morality.

With the collapse of Communism, he founded the Catholic Spiritual Club of Moscow.

Other speakers include George Gallup, president of the G.H. Gallup Institute and author of several books on religion; John Crossley, president of Tohickon Glass, a company dedicated to creating new legends in glass decorations

TRUTH MADE HER FREE.

An understanding of God, Truth, freed an Indiana woman from an infected lung, arthritis, and confinement to a wheelchair. It changed her whole life.

But this is not why she came to Christian Science in the first place. It was her hunger for an understanding of God. If you are searching for the joyous freedom that comes from knowing God's presence in your life, come to our service this Wednesday evening. You will hear people like yourself testify to the power of God, Truth, in their own experience.

Also, the Rev. Dr. Charles Rush, minister of Princeton Baptist Church and lecturer in ethics at Rutgers University; and the Rev. Dr. Ernest Gordon, president of CREED and dean emeritus of the Princeton University Chapel.

The conference will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue to 4. Tickets are $30 per person and $20 for students. For more information call 497-0224.

New Episcopal Bishop Consecrated at Service

The Rev. Joe Morris Doss, of Poe Road in Kingston, was consecrated bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey last Sunday at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral in Trenton.

Bishop Doss, 50, has served parishes in California and Louisiana since his ordination in 1972. He was elected by clergy and lay representatives at a special convention of the Diocese on June 18.

The Most Rev. Edmond L. Browning, presiding bishop and primate of the Episcopal Church, was the chief consecrator at the service. Co-consecrators were the Rt. Rev. G.P. Mellick Belshaw, bishop of New Jersey, the Rt. Rev. Leopold Frade, bishop of Honduras, the Rt. Rev. William E. Swing, bishop of California, and the Rt. Rev. Cornelius J. Wilson, bishop of Costa Rica.

The Rt. Rev. Frederick H. Borsch, bishop of Los Angeles since 1988, was the preacher. Prior to his election in Los Angeles, he was dean of Princeton University Chapel and professor of religion at Princeton from 1981 to 1988.

Bishop Doss will succeed Bishop Belshaw as leader of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, the sixth largest diocese (geographical jurisdiction) of the Episcopal Church. Diocesan headquarters are in Trenton.

Bulletin Notes

All Saints' Episcopal Church has announced that its new rector, the Rev. Richard A. Kunz, has arrived to take up his appointment.

Father Kunz has been Vicar of Emmanuel Church in Pittsburgh, Pa. for the past seven years. Previously he served as Canon Rector of Trinity Cathedral in Pittsburgh. He received his master of divinity degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1979. His background includes spiritual guidance, development of the ministry of the laity, congregational renewal and program development, and work with juveniles.

Members of the Princeton community are invited to worship at All Saints' and to welcome Father and Mrs. Kunz and their two children to the area.

Chiu-Tze Lin

The Jewish Center's Annual Nursery Gift Fair will be held Wednesday, November 10, from 9 to 6 at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

The selection includes personalized gifts, jewelry, clothing, books, Judaica, toys, household accents and more. New this year are the many first-time vendors from across the country.

Lunch will be available in the Cafe, along with dinner treats. The Fair will include a silent auction. Proceeds benefit the Nursery School.

Congregation Beth Chaim in West Windsor will implement a Reform Jewish nursery school beginning in September. Applications will be available in January. If interested, call Beth Chaim at 799-9401 to place name on a list to receive additional information as it becomes available.

The Kingston Presbyterian Church offers a contemporary worship service at 8:30 a.m. The regular worship is at 11. Church School for all ages begins at 9:30.

This Sunday the Rev. Dr. Richard Armstrong will preach at the 11 a.m. service. He will also present the first of a three-part series for the Adult Class focusing on his recent book, Faithful Witness. Dr. Armstrong is a retired professor of evangelism at Princeton Theological Seminary.

The Hispanic Fellowship begins its Church School at 11 and follows with Worship at 12:30.

The Princeton Presbyterian Church Concert Series will present a piano recital by Chiu-Tze Lin on Saturday, November 13 at 7:30. The concert will feature works by Chopin, Schubert and Schumann.

Winner of the 1987 Artists International Young Musicians Competition and the 1986 American Scholarship Association International Scholarship Competition, Chiu-Tze Lin has performed in solo recitals and orchestras around the world. Through a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, she was a touring soloist with the Chicago Symphony under Maestro Henry Mazer, and she performed with the orchestra on numerous occasions in the Chicago Orchestra Hall.

Miss Lin will be joined by Sylvie Webb of Princeton in a performance of the Schubert Fantasie. Mrs. Webb began her piano studies in her native France, where she won numerous music conservatory honors. Earlier this year, she was awarded an adult scholarship in piano by the Westminster Conservatory.

Child care will be provided. For more information call the church office at 987-1166 or (908) 446-2458.

Blawenburg Reformed Church will hold its annual "Tentoonstelling," an old-fashioned Dutch craft fair, Saturday, November 13, from 9 to 3.

The fair will feature Small Antiques and Collectibles, a Silent Auction, White Elephant, Garden Gate, Linens 'n' Things, Candy Cupboard, Baked Goods (including gourmet items, appetizers and soups), Noah's Ark, Santa's Workshop, Resurrected Rags and Riches and the Treasure Chest. Weather permitting, there will be a supervised playground for children.

A collection of old and new quilts will be on display, and there will be an organ concert in the main church, which was built in 1832. This year's profits will benefit Project Hope, the Children's Home Society of Trenton, the Bessie Green Center in Newark and church renovations.

OBITUARIES

John G. Winant, 71, a New York stock broker and oil company executive, died October 31 at Princeton Medical Center after a long illness. He was born in New York City and was a longtime Princeton resident.

From 1979 until his death, Mr. Winant was a limited partner in the Wall Street firm of Wellington & Co. Earlier he was a partner and managing partner at Henderson Harrison & Co. for 11 years. Before that he was associated with National City Bank, now Citibank, from 1951 to 1966.

In addition to his brokerage business, Mr. Winant had been, since the late 1950s, the managing general partner of Coyle-Concord Oil Co. of San Antonio, Tex.

Mr. Winant's father, John G. Winant, was the U.S. Ambassador to Britain during World War II. He was also a three-term Republican governor of New Hampshire and director-general of the International Labor Office in Geneva. The son was a sophomore at Princeton University when he enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Force in February, 1942. He was commissioned a second lieutenant later that year and became a B-17 bomber pilot.

He was promoted to first lieutenant and as a member of the 8th Air Force Command based in England he flew 12 successful missions before being shot down in October 1943, during a massive raid over the German city of Munster. He managed to parachute from his stricken plane but was captured by the Germans.

Toward the end of the war in Europe, he and a few young British prisoners of war who were close relations of the Royal family or other prominent wartime leaders were sequestered and held as Heinrich Himmler's personal hostages. Under Himmler's orders they were to be taken to the Black Forest and executed.

Fortunately, in April 1945, the S.S. general under whose immediate supervision the group had been placed, fearing for his own future, acceded to the intervention of the Swiss Red Cross and on May 5, 1945, gave the prisoners safe passage through the German lines in Red Cross vehicles to the headquarters of the 103rd Division of the U.S. 7th Army.

After his discharge from the Air Force, Mr. Winant enrolled in Balliol College, Oxford University, from which he graduated in 1947. In 1992, in memory of his father, he endowed a Lectureship in American Foreign Policy at the new Institute for American Studies at Oxford University.

Mr. Winant was a member of several organizations, including the San Antonio Club, the Petroleum Club, the Down Town Association, the Caterpillar Club, Pretty Brook Tennis Club, Blooming Grove Fishing Club, Angler's Club, Ivy Club, Nassau Gun Club, World Trade Center Club and 390th Bomb Group [H] Veterans Association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Janine Perret of Montreux, Switzerland; two sons, Dr. John G. Winant of Princeton and Marion E. Winant of Plainsboro; a brother, Livingston Winant of New York City; and four grandchildren.

Inc., 275 Madison Avenue, 39th Floor, New York 10016, with a letter expressing the preference that the funds be used for the benefit of Balliol College, Oxford University, Oxford, England.

Joseph Hague Jr., 87, of Province Line Road, died October 26 at home. Born in Elizabeth, he lived in Princeton since 1953.

Mr. Hague was a graduate of Pingry School in Elizabeth and Princeton University, Class of 1929. He retired in 1970 as the owner and operator of the family business, Smith Line Flower Corporation in Elizabeth.

He was a former member of Toms River Yacht Club and a member of Tiger Inn eating club at Princeton University.

Husband of the late Kathleen Wall Hague, he is survived by a sister-in-law, Margaret Wall of Atlanta, Ga.; two nephews, Frank T. Wall III and Joseph B. Wall, both of Carencro, La.; and a niece, Kathleen Mobley of Atlanta.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Westfield.

Alice Kellett Brown, 91, of West Windsor, died October 29 at Good Samaritan Regional Medical Center, Pottsville, Pa. Born in Fallsington, Pa., she lived most of her life in Trenton until moving to West Windsor in 1973 to live with her daughter and son-in-law, Nancianne and Joe Parrella. She recently went to stay with her sister in New Ringgold, Pa., where she was taken ill.

Mrs. Brown was a member of Trenton Chapter No. 212 O.E.S., a past Grand Officer, Grand Representative of Texas, and a member of Ashlar Chapter No. 169 of Pennington.

Wife of the late Harris H. Brown and mother of the late Elizabeth M. Hughes, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Parrella of West Windsor and Sally Jane Bergner of Waterbury, Conn.; a brother, Albert Kellett of Hobe Sound, Fla.; two sisters, Eleanor K. Cordwell of New Ringgold, Pa., and Elsie Goster, of Hobe Sound; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held Tuesday at Trinity Church with burial in Fountain Lawn Cemetery, Ewing. Contributions may be made to Good Samaritan Regional Medical Center, 700 East Norwegian Street, Pottsville, Pa., 17901.

Maria DiCredde, 60, of Van Kirk Road, died October 31 at Princeton Medical Center. Born in Sessano Del Molise, Isernia, Italy, she had lived in Princeton for the past 27 years.

Surviving are her husband, John DiCredde, a daughter, and son-in-law, Anna and Michael Valerio of Ewing Township.

A Mass of Christian Burial was scheduled to be celebrated this Wednesday at 9:30 at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church with entombment in St. Mary's Mausoleum, Cedar Lane, Trenton. Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mary C. Royer Unangst, 83, of Levittown, formerly of Princeton, died October 25 at Neshaminy Manor Nursing Home in Doylestown, Pa. Born in Myerstown, Pa., she lived in the Princeton area for many years before moving to Levittown 12 years ago.

Mrs. Unangst was a concert pianist and a retired employee of Bambergers who was most

Blum Memorial Fund

The History Department at Princeton University has announced the establishment of a memorial fund for Prof. Jerome Blum, who died this spring after 37 years on the University faculty.

Prof. Blum was a distinguished historian of European rural society, a dedicated teacher, and, for many years, master of the Graduate College.

Contributions may be sent to the Chair, Department of History, 129 Dickinson Hall, Princeton University, Princeton 08544.

recently retired from H.P. Clayton's, Palmer Square.

Wife of the late Rodney B. Unangst, she is survived by two daughters, Pamela R. Cantwell of Levittown and Carol Ann Bundschuh of Bordentown; a sister, Rebecca Eichlin of Easton, Pa.; a brother, Charles Royer of Reading, Pa.; seven grandchildren, six great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial service was held Friday at a Yardley, Pa., funeral home, the Rev. Karen L. McClellan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Levittown, officiating. Memorial donations may be made to the Alzheimer's Association, 100 North 17th Street, 4th floor, Philadelphia, Pa., 19103.

Erik L. Rogers, infant son of Erika and Jeff Rogers, died October 25 at Princeton Medical Center.

Grandson of the late William Tucker and James Beckett, he is survived by two sisters, Naya T. and Nacosha L. Rogers, both at home; his maternal grandmother, Eunice Hoagland of Princeton; his paternal grandmother, Siegel Rogers of Trenton; his maternal great-grandmother, Anita Hoagland of Princeton and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

A graveside service was held Friday in Princeton Cemetery, Elder Jerome Wilcox officiating.

David C. Harrop, 60, an editor and writer, died October 25 of cancer. Born in Baltimore, he was raised in Princeton and was a former editor at the Princeton University Press.

Mr. Harrop was a graduate of Deerfield Academy, Columbia University and the London School of Economics. He served in the Marine Corps and also in the United States Intelligence Service in Montevideo and Buenos Aires.

An editor at Macmillan and Doubleday as well as the Princeton University Press, he was the author of three novels, Given His Way, Present Time and Sherman's Bluff, and several works of nonfiction. He was also executive director of the Princeton-in-Asia program.

Son of the late Dr. George A. and Esther Caldwell Harrop, he is survived by his wife, Froma Joselow Harrop; two sons, Cole E. Harrop of New York and Andrew L. Harrop of Alexandria, Va.; two daughters, Katherine L. Ryan and Vanessa C. Speir, both of Bothwell, Wash.; a grandson, Oliver C. Speir; and a brother, Ambassador William C. Harrop.

Elisa Balestrieri, 32, of Kingston, died October 25. Born in Ischia, Italy, she came to the United States in 1974 and lived in Kingston since that time.

Ms. Balestrieri graduated from Princeton High School in 1977. She was a supervisor in the claims department of Adlcrinan Click and Co. for the past seven years.

Surviving are her parents, Antonio and Anna Balestrieri of Ischia; a brother, Mauro of Ischia; two aunts, Maria Baldino and Brigida Trani of Kingston; an uncle, Alfonso Buono of Kingston; and many cousins.

A funeral mass and burial will be held in Barano D'Ischia, Italy, at a later date. Local services are private.

Edith S. Drake, 86, of Montgomery Township, died October 28 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Pennington, Mrs. Drake lived most of her life in Montgomery Township. With her husband she owned and operated a farm in Belle Mead, where she also opened the Carriage House, an antique shop which she owned and operated for 15 years. She was a former clerk for Montgomery Township and a member of Harlingen Reformed Church.

Wife of the late J. Lester Drake, she is survived by a daughter, Audrey Tornquist of Belle Mead; a son and daughter-in-law, David L. and Delia Drake of Belle Mead; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held Saturday at a Hopewell funeral home, the Rev. Eugene Roberts, pastor of Harlingen Reformed Church officiating. Burial was in Rocky Hill Cemetery. Contributions in Mrs. Drake's memory may be made to the Montgomery First Aid and Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 105, Belle Mead 08502, or Harlingen Reformed Church Memorial Fund, U.S. Highway 206, Harlingen 08502.

Borough

The Borough electorate gave strong support to the Democratic Council candidates. The biggest plurality for the Democrats — as is traditionally the case — was in District 6, the John-Witherspoon and Stanworth area.

Districts 1 and 2, with a large Princeton University population; and District 9, Jugtown, also voted heavily for the Democratic incumbents.

The last time a Republican was elected to Borough Council was in 1991, when Ray Wadsworth defeated Democratic incumbent Lucy Mackenzie. He is the only Republican member of the Borough's governing body.

In the race for Governor of New Jersey, Jim Florio beat Christine Todd Whitman in the Borough by more than 2 to 1 — 1,916 to 848.

Gerald Stockman was the victor in the race for State Senate seat, and Shirley Turner and Joe Yuhas handily won the race for State Assembly, with 1,505 and 1,202 votes respectively.

Carl Mayer, a Princeton resident, received 765 votes in the Borough in his effort to win election to the Assembly.

TOWN TOPICS IS PRINTED entirely on recycled paper

Sam Plumeri won the Borough nod for sheriff, and Wendy Benchley, a Borough resident, led the race for freeholder. Her running mate, Jerlene Worthy, came in second.

The only public question on the ballot, which asked whether the State Constitution should be amended to provide for the recall of elected officials, was defeated 1,127 to 944 in the Borough.

In accepting her victory, Ms. Trotman said she was glad that she had won and that she had worked hard. "I knew we were working against very good candidates," she said. "I'm very glad the voters gave me their confidence to serve them another three years."

Mr. Goldfarb said he was very grateful for the support he had received from the voters. He added that he appreciated the kind of campaign the Republicans ran, "raising important issues without being negative."

"I like to think the voters recognize we are concerned about the kind of issues they've raised, and we will continue to play close attention to the tax rate and its effect on the residents of Princeton Borough."

On an election day that saw perfect weather, 52 percent of the Borough's 5,456 registered voters went to the polls.

Township

Wendy Benchley of Boudinot Street was the top vote getter among Township voters for re-election to the Mercer County Board of Freeholders. The public question was endorsed 2042 to 1826.

The mood in Republican headquarters was subdued as the results were being posted. At 8:55, with two districts not yet reported in the Township and in the Borough, Republican Borough Chairman Richard Strazza told party members, "We're not doing really great, and that's a disappointment, because there is a lot we can be very proud of." Mr. Strazza said the campaign had brought together an effective group of people and he urged them to continue the networking.

After thanking their supporters, Mrs. Souter said that she and Mr. Porter had been elected five years ago "to accomplish certain things, and we've delivered. I hope everyone will rally behind the new Committee." She called the results "a win-win situation" for the Souters.

There was jubilation in Democratic headquarters and wild applause for Mr. Frakt and Ms. Tuck. "This is really terrific," Mr. Frakt said. "It was a great campaign and it feels great to be standing here. Let's stay together, and let's do it again next year."

The poem that follows was written for my friend Joe Brown who did a bust of Robert Frost and shared with me his talks with him. Joe's favorite Frost poem was "To The Thawing Wind," which I was thinking of when I wrote mine.

TO THE THAWING WIND

Come with rain, O loud Southwester!
Bring the singer, bring the nester;
Give the buried flower a dream;
Make the settled snowbank stream;
Find the brown beneath the white;
But whate'er you do tonight,
Bathe my window, make it flow,
Melt it as the ice will go;
Melt the glass and leave the sticks
Like a hermit's crueifix;
Swing the picture on the wall;
Run the rattling pages o'er;
Seatter poems on the floor;
Turn the poet out of door.

OCTOBER WIND

Come wet wind of late October
Push against my garden door
Spread the chill before November
Bring me to the yard once more
To the rake I put aside
Til you up and turned the tide
And knocked the leaves right off the trees
And gave them all a merry ride
Then swirled them all right down the street
Around in circles at my feet
And made the squirrels all scurry and hide
And pushed the poet back inside.

A "New" Home Near Everything

THE CATHEDRAL CEILING IN THE LIVING ROOM AND DINING ROOM will remind you of Stuart Road. The clear crisp line of the kitchen and its lovely eat-in area say up to date. Why is a futon from White Lotus superior to any other mattress?

- handmade
- only layers of natural cotton
- no stiff or sagging steel no questionable chemicals
- soft, moulding, caressing unlike bent metal
- firm, but giving correct support
- natural cotton breathes cooler in summer warmer in winter

Private Park in Princeton

Princeton, New Jersey

Eleven acres of serene open and wooded land with a lovely mountain brook running through make this a very special Princeton property. The up-to-date, yet traditional, design of the house offers the best of formal and informal living. The marble-floored entrance hall opens to the spacious living room with fireplace. Wide double doors lead to the formal dining room and adjoining octagonal breakfast room. These rooms have custom-milled French doors opening to a walled stone terrace overlooking the grounds.

Also off the living room is the lovely paneled library with bookshelves and cozy corner fireplace. The sunny kitchen has all the equipment for gourmet cooking, a large center island, and an ideal space for an informal sitting area; the connecting butler's pantry provides full facilities for large or small scale entertaining.

The luxurious master bedroom suite, including tile-faced fireplace, dressing area with built-ins, walk-in closet, master bath with Jacuzzi, is one of three bedrooms and three full baths on the main level. A special treat is the lower level family/game room (22'x31') with built-in bar, ice maker, brick fireplace, full bath, and doors to garden. There is also a very large hobby or playroom on the same level. Further details and price on request.

CLASSIC PRINCETON

Said to be ... from the fine hand of JOHN RUSSELL POPE (1874-1937), pre-eminent architect of many public buildings in the nation's capitol ... this stately residence sits serenely in the heart of Princeton, setting a majestic tone for the entire neighborhood!

Old shade and luscious plantings insure perfect privacy for the impressive approach to the columned portico. The wrap-around terra cotta porches and terraces serve as the ideal haven for summer nights in town. Serenity reigns inside, as well, in a succession of rooms that — though impeccably renovated just a few years ago — remain true to the house's origins in an era of comfort and grace. Richly polished floors glow underfoot, wonderful wide windows provide views of the grounds, fireplaces abound, and the designer-kitchen brings the house into the (almost) 21st century! Impeccably maintained in the spirit of their original design, the rooms display such exquisite appointments as high ceilings, coffered moldings, columns, arches, French doors, and tall windows. The highlight, of course, sweeping twin staircases in the grand entrance hall that set the tone for the elegance and warmth throughout.
